Here's a Prince Listen to Him Learn About Rumania And Uncanny Germans

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

Mr. Gerard, once ambassador to Germany, had a dinner party on Tuesday, at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in New York, for Carol, Crown Prince of Rumania.

It was a fine dinner, as follows: Melon, large and red; cold chicken jelly with tomato in it; baby lobster taken out of its shell, chopped up and put back again.

Young Guinea hen, good imitation of pheasant, with four kinds of vegetables, pate of fat goose, liver with truffles, calf's foot jelly shivering on top of it. Lettuce salad with the goose liver.

Two kinds of ice cream, white and dark, shaped like a shell fired from guns. Another kind of ice cream, and fresh ripe figs soaked in very rich fruit syrup served with the ice cream.

Cakes with the ice cream, ten kinds of little ones, coffee, very important looking cigars, various kinds of cigarettes, and any amount of "cup" made of cider with fruit and mint and slices of orange in it. All the "contortions of the Sibyl, without the inspiration." The Prince's aide-de-camp tried six glasses of the mixture, then discovered its false character and said: "Ah! c'est amusant, mais pas trop amusant." He doesn't speak English.

With few exceptions, he was the only plainly dressed man in the room.

Many of the American guests were gorgeous in decorations, various colored ribbons around their necks, with medals all across their chests, some with rows of tiny little medals and crosses—not room on one chest for the whole full-sized collection. Each respected the other's medals and asked no questions.

The newspapers have said, "The Prince denies himself to reporters." He didn't deny himself to this reporter. He sat down at a little tin table in the Japanese Palm Garden, when the dinner was over, and poured out on behalf of his beloved country, Rumania, a line of pure, well thought out, advertising talk, such as might fill with envy N. W. Ayer, Lasker, Rankin, Resor, Faust, Gundlach, and all the other American Crown Princes of Publicity.

Rumania is twice as big as it was before the war. Its population is about twenty millions, including one million Jews. They now have the right to own land, they didn't before the war. Practically all the land, says the Prince, has been divided among peasants and others that work the land. It was taken from the owners of large tracts on a cash basis. The government paid a third, the new owner pays two-thirds in installments. Farmer owners may keep their orchards and vegetable gardens.

"Everything is expensive, that is the trouble," says Prince Carol. "We bought a few locomotives from France. It cost us a million francs to have them sent to Rumania."

Very soon Rumania will be more prosperous than ever. She is beginning now to export oil from her wells, says the Prince, of about the same grade as the oil from California.

Casually the Prince pays a tribute to German efficiency.

"You remember the darkest time of the war. Our condition seemed desperate in the great drive from Germany. Our Allies requested us to burn all our fields of standing grain and to destroy all our oil wells. We complied loyally, burned all the grain, and as we believed, destroyed absolutely and forever all our oil wells to prevent their falling into the hands of Germans.

"Then in came the Germans and with a skill and efficiency that I can only call 'uncanny' they went at the oil wells that we thought entirely ruined and in no time had restored half of them to full efficiency. From those wells, thus restored by the Germans, we shall ship oil that will restore our national money to its right place in the world's exchange."

Providence, you see, works mysteriously in Rumania as well as elsewhere.

Prince Carol confirmed the statement that a little League of Nations has been formed in Central Europe consisting of Rumania, Austria and Czecho-Slovakia. "The war is over, we must trade with those that were our enemies and have made a trade arrangement with Austria accordingly." That is common sense. He ought to go to Washington and tell our government about it. For he and his people know what war really is, and are glad to get out. We hang on.

The Prince wishes capitalists of the United States to know that they will all be welcome in Rumania if they come to invest their money developing old or starting new enterprises. And Rumania will be delighted to see them make large profits. Rumania, however, will not give up control of the sources of national wealth, oil wells, mines and so on, but will be glad to share the national wealth with energetic Americans that choose to help develop it.

There are very good opportunities in Rumania, but take money with you.

SUGAR AT 15 CENTS A POUND

American Refining Company Stops Supplying Market as Price Drops

Boston warehouses are bursting with sugar today, but the retail price is being held up by big refiners forcing the wholesalers, and through them the retailers, to maintain excessive sugar prices.

The American Sugar Refining Company has withdrawn its supply from the market in an attempt to maintain the exorbitant refiner's price to the jobber of more than 20 cents when the sugar is said to have cost them but from 4 to 5 cents a pound.

Sugar was selling in Boston retail stores today at from 15 to 25 cents a pound.

American Sugar Refining Company officials would assign no reason for their withdrawal.

Such withdrawal is considered rather nominal than indicative of any new development in the situation, inasmuch as the company was making practically no sales, owing to its prohibitive price. With competitors selling sugar wholesale at 17 cents a pound, the American Refining concern was unable to do business at its maintained price of 23½ cents a pound.

The company, officials said, was continuing to make deliveries on outstanding contracts.

HUNT FOR DUMMIES IN PONZI CASE

A force of State police is working under the direction of Attorney-General Allen in an effort to uncover the alleged "straw" men to whom and through whom it is believed Ponzi made certain payments. An official of the Attorney-General's office today acknowledged that a number of State police were so engaged. He added: "There is as yet no evidence that Ponzi himself had a straw man."

$4,500,000 CONTRACT FOR MACHINE GUNS

Hartford, Aug. 25.—It was reported here on reliable authority that the Colt Patent Fire Arms Company of this city had received a contract from the government for the manufacture of Browning machine guns to the amount of $4,500,000. President Frano G. Nichols of the company, refused to confirm or deny the report. Colt stocks jumped from 43 to 48 in the local curb yesterday.

Mayor of Cork Near Death in Prison

Dublin, Aug. 25.—A policeman was killed and another wounded in an outbreak of fighting today at Glangarriff, on Bantry Bay. Soldiers were sent to restore order.

By International News Service.

London, Aug. 25.—Lord Mayor McSwiney of Cork, who is on a hunger strike in Brixton jail, was again reported to be dying today. The last sacrament was administered.

Lord Mayor McSwiney has refused to eat since he was arrested in Cork and sentenced by a British court-martial on the charge of having seditious documents in his possession. This is his thirteenth day.

The Home Office reaffirmed the government's determination today to let the Mayor die rather than to release him, but it is likely to back down at the last moment, using as a loophole the fact that McSwiney is threatened with tuberculosis.

Crowds of Irish men and women gathered outside of the jail and recited the rosary in unison while Dr. Nixson vainly sought to move the Mayor from his indexible resolution not to submit to the British sentence of two years in prison.

The doctor gave up his pleading and McSwiney's sister came to his bedside. The dauntless Mayor then dictated a message to the Irish people. It read: "We must be prepared for casualties in this last battle for Irish independence. Let every man offer his life and the future of the Irish republic will be safe. God is with us."

Miss McSwiney appealed to the labor leaders to make a move for her brother, but they are all deaf to her pleas.

A dispatch from Cork said that all business was suspended for one hour while the people attended masses offered for the release of McSwiney.

Navy to Fight Claims on Oil Leases

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The Navy Department will contest more than 75 per cent. of the claims filed by oil companies and individuals upon lands in the huge reserves of the navy in Southern California, it was learned authoritatively today.

Today is the last day of the six months' limit set for filing claims under the conditions of the oil leasing bill passed by Congress on February 25. Of the more than 100 claims which the Navy Department estimates have been filed at the Department of the Interior not more than twenty-five or thirty will be granted leases under the terms of the bill without a stiff contest on the part of the Department. The other seventy-five or more claims will be fought on the ground of fraud.

POLES REJECT SOVIET TERMS

Decisive Battle Believed Developing as Reds Open New Attack

Paris, Aug. 25.—The advancing Polish troops are expected to reach the Polish ethnological frontier during the day, it was announced at the Polish legation. Polish cavalry is approaching Grodno, 155 miles northeast of Warsaw.

London, Aug. 25.—The Poles have flatly rejected fourteen of the fifteen peace terms presented to them by the Russian peace delegation at Minsk, according to advices from Minsk today.

The Russian demand for demobilization is reported to be the only one that the Poles accepted. The Poles are said to have refused to discuss the Russian demand for railway concessions and the arming of Polish workers.

The Poles hold that the frontier line drawn by Earl Curzon, the British foreign secretary, is unacceptable.

A dispatch from Berlin today said it was reported there that the Russians have commenced a counter-attack against the Polish left flank and are attempting to recapture Minva and Chorsele, and that a decisive battle is developing.

DISAPPEAR IN EAST BOSTON

Florence Rush and Gertrude Smith Missing Since Sunday Night

Florence Rush and Gertrude Smith, the two East Boston girls whose alleged kidnaping by six men in an automobile last month engaged the police of Boston and Providence, have again disappeared from their homes.

It became known to the American today that they left home on Sunday night, ostensibly to go to a motion picture show, and have not been heard of since.

The Rush girl, who is the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Rush, No. 62 West Eagle street, was absent for some days at her last disappearance, and returned home in a dazed condition, said by a physician to be due to drugs. She told a story of being taken to Providence and detained in a house where there was a blonde woman called "Alice." She was later released and sent back to Boston by train, she told the police.

The Smith girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith, No. 245 Meridian street, was with Miss Rush at the time the two accepted a ride in an automobile with six men at Revere Beach. When the men became offensive, the Smith girl said, she fought to get away, and managed to escape from the car by biting and scratching her captors.

At the time of their disappearance last Sunday the Smith girl wore a blue serge dress made with bolero jacket, a pink Georgette waist, black satin hat turned up in front, black shoes and stockings, and carried two coats, one blue and one gray. The parents of the two girls are prostrated, and expressed fear that their daughters had been "lured" again by the men responsible for Florence's previous experience.

Few Women to Vote, Says Gibbons

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 25.—Cardinal Gibbons said that he thought only a small percentage of the American women would exercise their right to vote after the novelty has worn off. "I regret very much that the women have taken the plunge into the deep. I would much prefer that things had remained as they were," he said.

"At this time," he continued, "it would be difficult to say what effect the change will have upon the morals of the country."

ARREST SIX IN LIQUOR RAID

Officers Seize 204 Quarts of Whiskey as New York Boat Reaches Boston

Six men were arrested and seventeen suitcases and bags containing whiskey were seized today at India Wharf on arrival of the New York boat, by Prohibition Officer Kelly, Sergeant Luts and Patrolman Adams.

Each grip contained twelve quart bottles of bonded whiskey, bottled in 1918.

The arrest was made following a tip received by Sergeant Luts from New York last evening.

The men, all employed as porters, had taxicabs at the pier waiting to take them and their luggage away. They gave their names as Hudson Seeley, 28 years old; Vincent Lawson, 25 years old; James Birdsong, 45 years old; Walter Edwards, 45 years old; William Harris, 17 years old, and James Ward, 29 years old. A seventh man escaped and the police are searching for him.

DEPORTED CANADIAN FIGHTS COURT ACTION

Montreal, Aug. 25.—An investigation of Buffalo court proceedings has been started as a result of the contention of Arthur Eerement, former member of the Canadian Parliament, recently deported from the United States, that Canadian courts had no jurisdiction over his case, wherein he is charged with conspiracy to defraud Michael Connelly of $125,000 in a betting scheme. He claimed he could not be tried here, as he was acquitted in the United States at Buffalo, where the alleged offence was committed.

RECEIVERS ARE TO GET $30,000

Creditors of Charles Ponzi will receive more than 50 per cent. of their claims.

Robert G. Dodge, counsel for the receivers, declared today that assets revealed at the hearings by Ponzi are "not worth anywhere near $3,000,000."

Federal Auditor Pride estimates Ponzi's liabilities at $7,000,000. Ponzi has assured the federal investigators and receivers that he has revealed all the assets he knows about.

Ponzi, of course, claims that the official figures are wrong. He says that his assets are $4,000,000 and his liabilities but $3,000,000. However, if the official figures are correct creditors will get less than fifty per cent.

If the assets of Ponzi are found to reach $3,000,000 the receivers, three in number, will receive something like $30,000 in fees, to be divided among them for their work in rounding up the assets.

In bankruptcy matters receivers are paid 6 per cent. on sums up to $500, 4 per cent. on $1,000, 2 per cent. on $8,500, and 1 per cent. on larger sums. In addition to receivers' fees there is likelihood of a $60,000 fee to a trustee in bankruptcy and fees to be paid the counsel for the receivers and the trustees. These fees will materially reduce the amount of Ponzi's assets to be divided among his creditors.

RECEIVERS SEARCH STRONG BOXES FOR HIDDEN PONZI ASSETS

Joseph Vetri, No. 59 Pleasant street, Lynn, an agent for Ponzi, surrendered, appeared in Judge Lummus' court and to the police in that city today to was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing answer to a charge of larceny. He is Sept. 8.

Today the receivers, accompanied by Ponzi's attorneys, visited the safety deposit boxes in several banks where he said he had left cash and securities. They hoped to locate one sum of $10,000 which the pretentder declared he believed still remained in one of the boxes.

Money and coming in so rapidly during the last few weeks of his business and he made so many loans, he confessed, that he was unable to remember all who were in his debt.

The sum of Ponzi's assets has been awaiting the return of $50,000 by Daniel F. Coakley and David V. Melaac, his attorneys, who paid they received that sum in fees. Their challenge that the receivers and receivers' counsel likewise work for nothing has not been met nor will be those officials said.

CHARGES BY COAKLEY.

That work of restoring the money of Ponzi's depositors was being hampered by the attitude of Received Dodge, was the statement of Coakley. He also hinted at further "revelations" from "Digger Jo" in the Ponzi business.

"I know the names of at least two more who are camouflaged on the lists of Ponzi investors, he said. "It is safe to say that Mr. Ponzi knows hundreds more.

"Mr. Thurston can't use his strong arm political methods in a receivership proceeding and he is working against instead of for the interests of Ponzi depositors. I believe that the way we might learn the real names of many of the Ponzi fabrications would be to sit down and go over the books and see if we can't get some of the money back.

That officials and employes of the Hanover Trust Company enjoyed special favors from the Ponzi operations was shown by stubs of Ponzi's coupon books, bearing the names of several employes of the trust company which has been closed by the bank examiner. The stubs revealed that they received 166 per cent. interest instead of the 50 that proved such an attractive bait to many of the Ponzi clients.

Miss Lucy Mell, Ponzi's private secretary, denied that she knew of any special arrangement for the Hanover Trust Company employes, and attributed the entries showing that they received twice their investment to clerical errors of an inexperienced assistant. She was also confronted by notations made by the promoter himself on several of the notes that they "not be added in" in the daily totals of receipts, but denied knowledge of them.

The receivers and their attorney,

Robert Dodge, have declined to meet the challenge dramatically hurled at them by Attorney Coakley during the hearing Tuesday that everyone connected with the administration of Ponzi's affairs work for nothing.

"Everyone in the case should receive a fair compensation," Receivers Sears and Thurston said. They declared that they were devoting the greater portion of their time to the final matter and believed that they should be recompensed. Attorney Dodge asserted that the fees paid counsel by Ponzi would have been subject to review by the court and he thought return of the $50,000 advisable.

Coakley and Melsaac, counsel for Charles Ponzi, will be summoned to testify before the promoter's receivers in bankruptcy, it was indicated today by Melsaac.

This development follows immediately on the heels of the sensational and bitter hearing before the receivers yesterday, during which Coakley and the bankruptcy officials hurled vicious epithets at each other, both fractious charging the other with attempting to block justice.

Whether the attitude taken by Ponzi's counsel at the receivership hearing resulted in the move to force the lawyers to appear before the examiners is not known.

HEARINGS ADJOURNED.

An indefinite adjournment was taken by the receivers to permit further examination into the promoter's affairs in an effort to locate more of his assets. Not even a tentative date has been set for the next hearing in the Federal building.

Edward A. Thurston, one of the receivers, whom Attorney Coakley called a liar during the hearing and repeated it four times, today excused the tirade by Ponzi's counsel on the grounds that it was a habit for him (Coakley) to get unduly excited.

"I do not intend to work for nothing," said Mr. Sears in discussing Mr. Coakley's offer to work gratis in order that the creditors would have more. "There is no comparison between what Mr. Coakley and Mr. Melsaac have done and the receivers working for nothing.

"As the result of the day's work, we receivers have added $58,000 to Ponzi's assets. I have given up my law practice to work on this case and do not see why I should work for nothing. My fee will be a reasonable one and the large number of creditors will be taken into consideration."

When Ponzi was placed on the witness stand, the questioning was resumed where it was left off Saturday by Attorney Dodge.

Q.—Mr. Ponzi, how much are your liabilities? A.—About three million dollars.

Q.—Then if you still claim the four million eight hundred dollar assets, you are solvent? A.—Well, if the liabilities equal the assets, of course I am solvent.

Q.—But you have just given us to understand that your liabilities are three million dollars! A.—Well, they might be more.

Q.—How much more? A.—Oh, three to four million dollars. I would have to refer to my papers to be accurate.

Q.—Since December, 1919, have you sent any money abroad? A.—One hundred or two hundred thousand lire.

The witness then declined to answer a question as to whether he had sent money abroad for investment, saying, "I decline to answer on the ground that it might incriminate me."

Q.—Did you authorize Mr. McNary to retain counsel for you? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you leave the selection of counsel to Mr. McNary? A.—Yes, I told him to engage counsel and to charge it to my account. He proposed Mr. Melsaac.

Edward A. Thurston, one of the receivers, then took the witness in hand.

Q.—Did Mr. Pelletier intimate to you that he was going to institute criminal proceedings, and was that the reason why you engaged counsel? A.—No.

Q.—Did United States District Attorney Gallagher intimate that he was going to start criminal proceedings? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—You surrendered to the United States district attorney at his office, didn't you?

At this point Attorney Daniel H. Coakley, senior counsel for Ponzi, interrupted, saying: "I object to the manner in which you are putting the questions to Mr. Ponzi. I think you ought not to gut seventy-five questions at one time in such rapid-fire machine-gun fashion without giving him a fair opportunity to answer. You ought to be fair with him."

Turning to the witness Mr. Coakley then cautioned Ponzi not to answer questions until he—Coakley—had passed upon them and had told him whether or not he should answer them.

A thrill of excitement ran through the spectators as Mr. Thurston came back hotly at Mr. Coakley, saying: "Coakley, I assure you we'll know the reason why."

Coakley replied: "He's going to be treated fairly here. And he's not going to answer any questions unless I want him to."

REFUSES TO ANSWER.

Q.—Mr. Ponzi, didn't you show your attorney, Mr. Coakley, two million three hundred thousand dollars in gilt-edged securities?

At this point Coakley again interrupted and ordered Ponzi not to answer the question. Attorney Dodge, who had been questioning the witness, told Attorney Coakley that he could "make a speech" if he wished, but that he was not to be quoted in the public press.

"Oh, for heaven's sakes don't use the newspaper accounts for the records of this case," exclaimed Attorney Coakley. "You are playing to the voters through the newspapers."

"It seems to me that you are the one playing to the voters," replied Attorney Dodge.

The ill-feeling between Ponzi's counsel and the receivers and their counsel, which has been apparent throughout the proceedings, became inflamed at this point.

Coakley jumped to his feet and pounded the table so as to enlarge the ball of Brightwell to $10,000, bonds for Raymond Myers to $5,000, and Charles Fred Myers to $3,000, and Sam Zorn of Dorchester, arrested as one of the defendants in the case, is at liberty in bonds of $2,000. He will also be given a hearing September 1.

Receiver Hannigan Learns Also of $1,000 on Deposit in Springfield Bank

John E. Hannigan, receiver for the Old Colony Foreign Exchange Company reports that he expects to recover $20,000 belonging to the concern, the existence of which he has discovered. It is said that information concerning this sum of money has been given to Hannigan by attorneys for Mrs. Charles M. Brightwell, wife of the president of the alleged swindle.

Hannigan also reports that $1,000 of the company's money is in a Springfield bank and he will take immediate steps to obtain it.

The known liabilities of the concern total $165,000 as against assets in hand of $145,000.

The three accused officers of the company, Brightwell, Raymond Myers and Charles Fred Myers, expect to obtain freedom when Judge Burke, after setting September 1 as the date for the trial of the trio on charges of larceny, reduced the bail of Brightwell to $10,000, bonds for Raymond Myers to $5,000, and Charles Fred Myers to $3,000, and Sam Zorn of Dorchester, arrested as one of the defendants in the case, is at liberty in bonds of $2,000. Louise Huff's Beauty Talk

That dainty and charming actress, Louise Huff, is famous for her beautiful complexion and as an author of many articles on the subject of beauty she has been persuaded to tell the readers of this paper how they may quickly acquire a soft, smooth, velvety complexion like hers. She says: "To get the best results the skin should be thoroughly cleansed, then apply Derwillo which can be obtained at the toilet counter of any up-to-date drug or department store." This instantly beautifies the complexion and its continued use makes the results permanent. Over five hundred thousand girls and women are using Derwillo in preference to face powder and other beautifiers and they are just as enthusiastic over it as Miss Huff. Be sure to read her large article on the complexion soon to appear in this paper. In the meantime get Derwillo which she recommends and try it today; you will be delighted with it and soon have a complexion for which everyone will compliment you.—Advertisement.

SCORES VISIT HOME OF ROCKLAND HUSBAND "FOR SALE"

RUSSELL RETICENT ON BIDS

Promises to Tell Later of Offers; Wife Eager to Have His "Sale" Over

Has anyone bid for Carl J. Russell of Rockland, who is offered for sale by his wife, Lillian?

Mrs. Russell herself refused today to answer this question, and Carl merely smiled as he said that in the twelve hours which had elapsed since the announcement in the American that he had been offered, either by lottery or by auction, a score of people and a line of automobiles had halted before their domicile at intervals during the day.

AUTOS FLOCK TO DOOR.

Whether the automobiles were filled with bidders or curious people, who, however, waited in vain for a glimpse of the first husband to be offered to be offered on the market by lottery or parceled out to the highest bidder, husband Russell, remaining indoors, would not say. About the callers who jangled the bell at intervals during the day, both husband and wife were silent.

"Tomorrow," declared Russell, "something may develop."

"We have done nothing regarding the lottery as we understand this would be illegal," said Mrs. Russell. "I had hoped that our purpose might have been accomplished by a private sale," she added.

"Have you received an offer from any source as yet?" Russell was asked.

HIS FAMILY IS SHOCKED.

"I do not care to answer," was all he would reply.

"How does it feel to be on sale?" asked the reporter.

"So far it has been tiresome. These are trying moments for us. We are in imperative need of money. Only the most desperate circumstances could have driven us to this extreme means of trying to properly provide for our children," he replied.

"Members of the family naturally are somewhat shocked," said Russell. Mrs. Russell nodded her head affirmatively. "It is a dreadful thing of course. There are times, however, when one has to do desperate things. This is unfortunately one of those times. I wish it were all over," she sighed.

"I understand that everyone in town has read about this, but it cannot be helped. Wherever I go I hear people say as I pass, 'There he is,' but I suppose that is natural," said Russell.

RUSSELL'S RIVAL FAIR.

The town of Rockland read with interest and excitement the bizarre proposition of Mrs. Russell to dispose of her husband. It had only two rivals—the Marshfield Fair and the merry-go-round, which was set up last night—next door to the Russell cottage, adding a double attraction to the locality.

The Russell house was surrounded by persons visiting the circling race of the wooden horses and the call of the "barker" announcing that the palmist behind the gaudy painted screen was ready to unfold the future.

"Perhaps the palmist could tell me the outcome of this parade," jokingly remarked Russell. "I wish someone could answer him," replied his wife.

The assertion of A. H. Hoppe of England that the British women's type of beauty is far superior to that found among American women, is still further challenged by numbers of attractive New England girls, many of whom have sent their pictures to the Boston American as proof of their assertions. Mr. Hoppe is in the United States at the present time searching for the real American beauty. Readers of the Boston American are requested to send photographs of other pretty women known to them.

MILLIONAIRE IN LOVE SUIT

Housekeeper Claims Belmont Man Jilted Her for Younger Teacher; Asks $50,000

Miss Emma Brudeur, aged forty, of No. 64 Rutland square, has entered suit for $50,000 against Thomas B. Hale, aged sixty, a Belmont millionaire and real estate operator, who, she charges jilted her for the company of a twenty-five-year-old Brookfield school teacher.

Miss Brudeur was formerly employed by Hale at his home, Springfield street, Belmont, and also at his lake Winnepesaukee estate, Wood Island.

It was four years ago, she claims, that he first proposed marriage. She accepted and all went well until two months ago. Then he said he was going to marry "Miss Houston," a Brookfield teacher, and take her to Europe next June on a honeymoon. Miss Brudeur alleges. He ordered his housekeeper out and she was directed to take up quarters at Rutland square, she says.

And when the case comes up in the Superior Court of Cambridge the first Monday in September she says she is going to present a great wad of loving letters that Hale is alleged to have written her from Lake Winnepesaukee and the home in the Belmont residence.

Miss Brudeur has attached the property of Hale to the extent of $50,000.

In 1909 Hale married Miss Clara Lenker, a wealthy Canton, Ohio, girl. She died three years later.

FARES INCREASE AT MIDNIGHT

B. & A. Issues Catechism of Questions to Inform Public of New Rates

Everybody knows by this time that beginning at midnight tonight passenger fares on all the railroads in the United States will be jumped one-fifth, or 20 per cent.

The mere announcement, however, leaves many questions to be answered. In order to meet this general want the passenger department of the Boston & Albany Railroad has come to the front with the following catechism:

Q.—When do the new rates go into effect? A.—At midnight, Wednesday, August 25.

Q.—Do the rates go up on all fares on that date? A.—Yes. On through tickets, and in Massachusetts all tickets will cost 20 per cent more.

Q.—If I bought a ticket on August 25 and started on a journey is it good on Thursday, August 26? A.—Yes, it is good to destination within its limit.

Q.—Is a round-trip ticket bought before August 26 good for a return trip after that date without payment of additional fare? A.—Yes, it is good within its limits.

Q.—Is a Pullman ticket purchased on the 25th good on Thursday, the 26th? A.—Yes, a passenger who purchased a ticket and who is actually traveling on it at midnight of the 25th will not have to pay any extra Pullman fare.

Q.—Will the 60-ride monthly ticket be good on or after the 26th if purchased before that date? A.—Yes, within the limits mentioned in the ticket it is good, and can be used within those limits without payment of extra fare.

Q.—Can I get my money back on unused portions of 10-ride and 12-ride trip tickets? A.—Yes. They will give you back the money at the station where you bought the ticket up to Sept. 30, 1920; or at the office of the General Passenger Agent, Room 337, South Station, Boston, at any time.

Q.—Can I use a scrip book purchased before August 26? A.—Yes. The coupons in the scrip book can be used within the limits of the book and can be considered as just like so much money. The conductor will detach whatever coupons are necessary to meet the increase in fare, which goes into effect on August 26.

Q.—Will it cost more to travel in Pullman cars after August? A.—Yes. There is an added charge of 50 per cent. on the present Pullman car rate for the space occupied.

FIGHT PRIORITY COAL ORDERS

Wholesalers to Test Authority of Commission in Ordering Fuel to New England

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Litigation to test the constitutional authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission in directing the destination of privately-owned commodities, such as coal, will be begun within a fortnight, representatives of coal wholesalers today declared.

The coal dealers and operators complain of the action of the commission in directing that coal shall be sent by New England and the Great Lakes before any other section of the country is provided for, notwithstanding the fact that orders are on hand for coal in other sections.

In the application of the Chambers of Commerce of Cleveland and Akron, O., for the cancellation of a large part of the commission's order granting Great Lakes coal preference and ordering that the needs of the northwest be fulfilled before the remainder of the country is cared for from the central coal fields the dealers see an opening wedge for their action.

The settlement of the right of a commission to dictate to a private citizen where he might dispose of his wares will involve litigation which may prove as important in its day as the Dred Scott decision prior to the Civil War," George H. Cushing, managing director of the American Wholesale Coal Association declared.

THIRD HUSBAND SUES 'QUEENIE'

Nelson Gammans Asks Divorce From 'Harvard Favorite' With Whom He Eloped

"Queenie," erstwhile favorite of Harvard students and a well-known figure in Boston's cafe life a few years back, is again seeking separation from a husband.

Mary Odde Guiffrie Gaynor Gammans, better known in Boston as "May Queen," thrice married before she was twenty-one, seeks separation from Nelson Gammans, with whom she eloped in 1911 while he was a student at Harvard.

Gammans, now connected with a law firm in Porto Rico, also is suing for divorce and seeks legal custody of his wife's 17-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Gammans is the daughter of Charles Odde, a barber of New London, Ct. When thirteen years old she married Salvatore Guiffre. She came to Boston and he went to Texas and sued for a divorce.

Mrs. Guiffre, assuming the name "May Queen," under which she had appeared on the stage, frequented the cafes. She lived in the Back Bay.

"Queenie" achieved notoriety by eloping with Rufus W. Gaynor, son of the late Mayor Gaynor of New York. Young Gaynor, a student at Harvard, sued for annulment on the ground that she was not divorced from Guiffre.

In February, 1911, Boston learned that she had eloped with nineteen-year-old Nelson Gammans, whose mother, Mrs. George Gordon Gammans of Portland, Me., had offered to bestow a considerable sum upon him if he would remain single until he had completed his college course.

Gammans charges cruel and abusive treatment and desertion. He claims to have adopted her seventeen-year-old daughter.

"Queenie" has filed a petition for a separation decree in New York.

REDS THREATEN WAR ON BRITAIN

Soviet Delegation Quitting London Expects English Navy to Attack

hope will be the destruction of the British Empire in the East.

Leo Kamneff and Leonid Krassin, the Soviet emissaries, said they were leaving London by instruction of their government. They expect to leave before the end of the week.

This is the Soviet's reply to the latest reversal of policy of Premier Lloyd George, as indicated by his denunciation from Lucerne of the insistence by the Moscow government on the formation of a Polish proletariat militia.

CHARGES INSINCERITY.

In discussing the decision to leave, Kameneff said: "We have been here one month with the object of opening up trade between Great Britain and Russia. Absolutely nothing has been accomplished. There is no prospect of getting business. We have been jockeyed along under various pretexts, while the government has followed the course of events in Poland.

"It is obvious, after Premier Lloyd George's statement at Lucerne, that our commercial mission here is ended. It is not to be denied that the Russian army is in full retreat but the war in Poland is not over. The Soviet government will never make peace with the Warsaw government except on terms which guarantee the safety of Russia's exposed western flank.

"Poland will be unable to effectively invade Russia. We will have plenty of time to reform our armies and prepare to launch another offensive. Russia maintains that it does not want to deprive Poland of her independence or territorial integrity but cannot consent to the existence of a menacing landlord army on the western frontier."

Kameneff recognized the consequence of the dramatic decision to leave confronts Russia with openly declared hostility to England as well as France and Poland, but declared that as soon as Lloyd George seeks to aid Poland with the British navy and with munitions the Soviet reply will be in preparations to march its army into India through Persia and Afghanistan, where thanks to work already done in those countries, the door will be open to the Red armies.

Kameneff is convinced that Premier Lloyd George will be unable to overcome the opposition of British labor to the conscription of an army to fight on Polish soil but admits that he can employ the navy against Russia because that weapon can be operated with the greatest secrecy, the public being kept uninformed of its movements.

Actress Proves Expert Reinswoman

Miss Esther Lyon driving pacer Un.

Professional trainers and drivers and members of the Metropolitan Driving Club who have their horses assembled at Readville in preparation for next week's Grand Circuit meeting were astounded when they beheld a bay pacing stallion being honed around the track driven by a handsome young woman. The horse was Un (2.02¼), formerly one of the "bearcats" of the big line when in the stable of Charley Valentine, and now owned by W. J. McDonald of Boston.

The fair reinswomen proved to be Miss Esther Lyon, who plays in "The Little Whopper" at the Majestic Theatre, and who is a horsewoman of not a little distinction. Some years ago she drove Chief Wilkis in brushes on the snowpath at the Charles River Speedway, when the big bay gelding held undisputed away there and was considered practically unbeatable.

14 Warships Under Sealed Orders Have Left, Says Danzig Dispatch

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.
Boston American Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, Aug. 25.—A fleet of fourteen American war vessels, including three battleships and four cruisers, have sailed from the Virginia coast for the Baltic Sea, according to a Danzig dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung today.

The dispatch says the ships sailed under sealed orders and that undoubtedly Danzig is their destination.

The Polish government, according to the same dispatch, refused entrance to 3,300 Poles who arrived from the United States on the steamers Susquehanna and New Rochelle. The Poles were refused entry because those capable of performing military service refused to join the army.

They have been lodged in barracks and will be returned to America. The correspondent adds that the ships brought war materials.

Washington, Aug. 25.—When the dispatch from Danzig to the Berlin Vossische Zeitung was read to Secretary of State Colby, it is expected by suffrage leaders, will either today or tomorrow issue a proclamation announcing the ratification of the Susan B. Anthony amendment by three-fourths of the states of the Union.

Governor Roberts of Tennessee certified ratification by the Tennessee Legislature after Attorney General Thompson of that State had notified him that in his opinion the writ of certiorari and supersedeas issued by Chief Judge Landsden of the Tennessee Supreme Court in effect set aside an order temporarily restraining Governor Roberts from taking such action.

The Governor, immediately after signing, placed the certification in the mails addressed to the Secretary of State.

WOODWARD FILES EQUITY BILL IN GARBAGE ROW

Dr. William C. Woodward, health commissioner of Boston, in a bill in equity brought in the Superior Court, is renewing an old fight to have all the garbage of Boston turned over to the Boston Sanitary Company which has a contract with the city to receive and remove the same.

The Hotel Vendome claims the right to dispose of its swill to Joseph Wheeler, a Dover farmer, and Dr. Woodward asks the court to restrain both defendants from violating a regulation of the Board of Health passed on July 14, 1914, which provides that garbage only shall be removed by city employes or city contractors.

Judge Sisk has issued an order of notice returnable on September 1.

ROOT SILENT ON POLITICS

Refuses to Speak on League of Nations as He Represents Wilson

By International News Service.

London, Aug. 25.—If Republican leaders in the United States hope to utilize the services of Elihu Root for speeches on the League of Nations they are doomed to disappointment. Mr. Root declared emphatically, today that he would maintain absolute silence.

"Now that the league has become a political issue in the United States and to some extent, in Europe, it is impossible for me to discuss it," said Mr. Root. "I am opposed to the politics of the present administration at Washington, yet to a certain extent I am representing the administration here. Therefore, it is impossible for me to say anything that might in any sense be accepted as criticism of the American administration or the League of Nations. I have participated in the deliberations on the league only in an advisory way."

Mr. Root came to Europe as a member of the international commission of jurists that has had the foundation for a permanent court of arbitration and justice which will be confided as a branch of the League of Nations to prevent future wars. The American jurist said he would return to The Hague in a few days to meet his wife who is preparing to leave Holland for New York.

Root and House Each at Work for Party

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Diplomats here are watching with interest the goings and comings of two distinguished Americans now in Europe—Elihu Root, Secretary of State under Roosevelt, and Colonel House. President Wilson's right-hand man and confidential adviser until Versailles. The belief of many is that each is on unofficial but strictly confidential mission.

While Democrats and Republicans in the Senate delayed action on the Peace Treaty it was admitted by both parties that the moral leadership in world affairs, won for the United States by American victories overseas, was gradually being lost, each party blaming the other for the blunder.

Reports have reached Washington that Europe of late has shown more readiness to listen to the voice of America in arranging Old World destinies.

Colonel House is considered by the Department of State to be abroad as a newspaper writer, while Mr. Root went at the invitation of the Allied Supreme Council to lend his help in the formation of an international court.

The real work of each, observers here understand, is to convince the leading statesmen of Europe that each has the only real idea for a League of Nations or world society, nor that his own party, behind that idea, is bound to come out on top in November.

HARRY W. JAMES HITS J. J. MARTIN IN SPEECH

Harry W. James, city solicitor of Chelsea, speaking at the City Club in opposition to the candidacy of John J. Martin for the Republican nomination for the Governor's Council, declared that Martin is using the Chelsea bridge issue for political purposes. He termed it "a grazing piece of political insincerity." "If Mr. Martin is interested in building the Chelsea bridge as he says he is, he should run for the City Council and not for Governor's Council," Solicitor James said.

DOMINION URGED AT IRISH PARLEY

Government, Not Ulster, Is Obstacle to Peace, Noted Conferees Believe

By DENIS O'CONNELL.

Dublin, Aug. 25.—The British government, not Ulster county, is the real obstacle in the settlement of the Irish question.

That was the keynote of the peace conference held here. In many respects it was one of the most remarkable gatherings in the history of Ireland. Twenty earls and barons, fifty knights and baronets, landlords, professional persons, commercial leaders, generals and admirals, more than half of whom have heretofore been associated with Sir Edward Carson, packed the hall and listened to speaker after speaker denounce the present home rule bill. All were satisfied with dominion self-government for Ireland, with full fiscal control.

URGE DOMINION RULE.

Sir Nugent Everard, the chairman, explained that Premier Lloyd George had told the business men of Cork that if a conference of Irish Irishmen, meeting in Dublin, would express views similar to the ones expressed by the peace conference, that he could see a ray of hope for giving dominion home rule to Ireland.

Lord French, a (Sinn) peer (not Viscount French, Lord Lieutenant for Ireland), warned the government that within two weeks valuable industrial towns will be wrecked under a policy of retaliation against the administration.

Sir Stanley Harrington, Earl of Shaftesbury, and Ireland's wealthiest landlord, backed the resolution for full national self-government, with Ulster a free contracting partner.

PLUNKETT RAPS SINN FEIN.

"If the Premier is unable to settle the Irish question," he said, "it must be submitted to Premiers of Canada, Australia and New Zealand, with their broader world outlook."

Sir Horace Plunkett denied the right of Sinn Fein to dictate to the whole country, and said the settlement must be a compromise.

The increase will amount to $10,000,000 during the next twelve months. Margeson, for the purpose of explaining to veterans the provisions of the amendment to the new pension measure.

Franklin, N. H., Aug. 25.—Police here and in Concord are searching for Ruth Bartlett, thirteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Frank Bartlett of West Sanbornton, who is believed to be in one of these communities in company with a man. The girl bought a ticket from Hill for Franklin.

EXPRESS STRIKE JAMS NEW YORK TERMINALS

New York, Aug. 25.—A strike of drivers employed by the Westcott Express company and the New York Transfer Company has tied up baggage deliveries in New York. The two huge railroad terminals—the Grand Central station and the Pennsylvania station—are jammed with accumulating trunks. Steamship piers also are suffering. The men demand an increase in salary and an eight-hour day.

Loss of Pet Pup Moves Mistress to Pen Poem

Anybody who has ever suffered the loss of a pet will sympathize with Mrs. Esther H. Meade of Newtonville, who, offering the American the verses printed herewith, addressed the following explanatory note to the editor:

Dear Sir—Last week I lost my dog and advertised the loss in the "Lost and Found" column. But—nothing happened. Am I asking too much when I ask you to print the enclosed "classic"—dashed off in desperation? Please do!

Mrs. Meade, whose home is at No. 427 Newtonville avenue, is the daughter of one of Boston's well-known physicians, Dr. Frederick J. Hopkins of Newbury street. This is her poem about a tiny Boston terrier.

LOST—MY DOG!

Last week I lost my little dog.
Oh, won't you help me find her?
If you would look about your yard
Nothing would be kinder.

I'll gladly give a big reward
To him who brings her home;
My little Boston terrier
Who liked me well to roam!

Her body's dark brindle in—
Her head and neck are white.
She wore on collar when she strayed
Away last Monday night.

There is between her two bat ears
A tiny little spot.
You could recognize her not to me
If you see her, will you not?

But even if you call her
In loud or cooing tone
She could not hear a word you say
She's as deaf as any stone.

So if you see my little pup
The only way to nab her
Is safely to sneak up behind
And then to quickly grab her!

If dog answering this description is found please 'phone Newton North 168, or call at 427 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville.

SEEK TALL STRANGER FOR WATCH THEFT

J. Goldman, a grocer, at No. 84 Shawmut street, Chelsea, reported to the police the theft of a lady's gold watch valued at $35 from a show case in the store. A tall man about sixty years of age, who bought a pint of milk, is being sought. Thieves broke into the Broadway Theatre in Chelsea and stole about 30,000 tickets and ransacked the place. Officer Bradley of the Chelsea police has recovered some of the tickets and expects to hold some boys in connection with the break.

URGE RAILWAY MEN TO OPPOSE MOSES

Nashua, N. H., Aug. 25.—At a mass meeting here railroad men were urged to oppose the re-election of United States Senator George H. Moses for his vote in favor of the Cummins-Esch non-strike bill. Vice-President Thomas Pearson of New York of the Railroad Telegraphers National Organization, was the principal speaker. Other speakers were President John L. Barry of Manchester of the New Hampshire State Federation of Labor, and General Organizer John J. Coyne of Manchester.

ALL BIRTH RECORDS SMASHED IN LONDON

London, Aug. 25.—There is a baby boom in London.

Births during the first six months of this year have broken all records. There were more marriages in 1919 than in any other year on record, the total being 50,232. Births last year were 82,525, an increase of 10,000 over 1918.

These figures are supplied by Dr. W. H. Hamar, London county medical officer, who says if there were more houses "everyone would be happy."

COURT SETS WIFE'S VALUE AT $20,000

London, Aug. 25.—Twenty thousand dollars has been set as the value of a wife by an English court. Damages to that extent were awarded L. T. Gibbon-Jenkins against Major Lionel Stephenson, who stole his wife.

HARDING HEARS CAMPAIGN SONG

Marion Also Sees Galaxy of Theatrical Stars Entertain Candidate

Marion, O., Aug. 25. — Marion, the home of the Republican candidate, is just bubbling over. It was the first time this quiet little town had ever seen a bunch of motion picture and theatrical stars at close range, and it responded whole-heartedly.

Charles F. Hughes, the defeated candidate of the G. O. P., in 1916, divided honors with the visiting thespians in winning the town.

Al Jolson made the introductory remarks and then the fun began.

Blanche Ring sang the new Republican campaign song to the candidate and Mrs. Harding, while a throng of more than 5,000 people picked up the words and chorus. Here they are:

We think the country's ready for a man like Teddy;
One who is better through and through.
We need another Lincoln to do the nation's righting,
And, Mr. Harding, we've selected you.

CHORUS:

Harding, lead the G. O. P.
Harding, on to victory.
We're here to make a fuss,
Mr. Harding you're the man for us.

Then the front porch party broke up, but not without a big laugh from the crowd. Senator Harding was draped with the large brass tuba of the theatrical band, and played a few notes.

LIMIT HAVERHILL FIRE TRUCKS TO 25-MILE SPEED

Haverhill, Aug. 25.—Fire trucks must not be driven through the streets of Haverhill faster than twenty-five miles an hour. This is the edict of Chief John B. Gordon of the fire department, who asserts that there is too much reckless driving in the department.

Firemen Emery Christensen and George Taylor lost their lives last February when a fire truck on which they were riding collided with an electric car in a fog.

FIVE TIED FOR HEAD OF HARVARD RANK LIST

Five men are tied for the leadership on Harvard's rank list. They are William Allen of Winthrop, John Bridge of Simsbury, Conn., Miles Hanson, Jr., of Roxbury, William T. Salter of Roxbury, and Everett Sweesey of Englewood, N. J. The men took seven studies and received in each of them another good record is that of Bernard O. Koopman of Cambridge, who took nine courses, getting seven A's and two B's.

TRIPLETS CALL AT HOME OF TEAMSTER

Providence, Aug. 25.—The cost of living took another jump for John Clinton, a teamster, when the stork left three new babies at his home, No. 46 Thayer street. Two of the triplets are boys. There are three other children in the family.

FREE KIDNAPED AMERICANS

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle and Four Others Released by Mexican Bandit

Washington, Aug. 25.—The American consul at Guadalajara, Mexico, has received apparently authentic information that Charles Hoyle and Mrs. Hoyle, and the four other Americans kidnaped at Quale, Jalisco, by the bandit, Pierro Zamora, have been released.

A dispatch to the State Department from the embassy at Mexico City although garbled in transmission, indicates that W. A. Gardner, another American captured, and Charles B. Johnson, an Englishman, still were held by Zamora for ransom.

Johnson is held for payment of $25,000, but the amount demanded for Gardner is unknown here. Hoyle and his wife have reached Las Penas safely and the other four Americans released are at Mesa Del Corason.

Washington, Aug. 25.—Official advices to the agency here of the Provisional Mexican government denied emphatically that the defacto government had received from France a statement of conditions under which recognition would be extended by the French government.

12 Saloonkeepers Trapped; Liquor Obtained from Kentucky on Forged Permits

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Twelve saloon keepers walked into a trap set for them by government agents. A carload of Kentucky whiskey valued at approximately $150,000 was confiscated, as well as a number of automobiles and trucks. The Federal prohibition officer said it was the first stop to break Chicago's million dollar whiskey ring.

The liquor was shipped to Chicago from a bonded warehouse at Louisville, Ky., on a forged government permit, according to the prohibition officers. It was left on a siding in the Chicago yards. Prohibition officers concealed themselves in nearby empty box cars.

Soon an automobile drove up. The driver left his seat and went toward the car. An agent wandered out from his place of concealment and asked him if he "had come to get his stuff."

"Yes, I've got the money to pay for 100 cases and I'll take them with me."

The man was arrested, escorted to a box car and placed in charge of another prohibition officer. The first agent again took up his vigil. In a few minutes another man came for whiskey. He, too, was arrested. Twelve men in all walked into the trap. The car contained 2,000 cases of whiskey.

TWO BREAK LEGS BY LEAP FROM FLAMES

New York, Aug. 25.—Two men received broken legs through jumping from windows in a tenement house fire that drove twenty-two families from their home here. Police and firemen ascended ladders and led most of the tenants to the street.

HUGHES OUT FOR NEW PEACE IDEA

Indorses Harding and Association of Nations After Visit to G. O. P. Nominee

Marion, O., Aug. 25.—Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for President in 1916, came out today with an unqualified endorsement of Senator Harding after spending twenty-four hours in Marion.

In his first formal utterance since the convention Justice Hughes not only expressed complete confidence in the 1920 nominee, but he also gave his approval to the plan of an "Association of Nations for International Justice," proposed by Harding in his speech of acceptance.

It is generally believed that the details for such a combination of government are now being worked out in Europe by Elihu Root and later will be injected into the Republican campaign as the G. O. P. substitute for the league plan brought back by President Wilson. Its function would be to promote international justice and it spowers broadly limited to the decision of "justiciable questions."

Justice Hughes took occasion to score both Governor Cox and President Wilson. The nomination of Cox, he said, was brought about by "baneful influences," while "President Wilson's obstinacy" alone is responsible for the chaotic condition of our foreign relations.

While Hughes' position on the league issue has never been widely known, it has generally been accepted that he sided with a majority of the Republican Senators who voted for reservations.

Cox to Fire "Slush" Fund Volley at G. O. P.

En Route with Governor Cox, Aug. 25.—With a bulging portfolio of data calculated to prove his charges that Republican leaders are raising a "slush fund" of $15,000,000, Governor James M. Cox left Dayton shortly after midnight for the third and last of the preliminary stumping tours which precede his big swing to the Pacific coast in September.

At Pittsburgh Thursday night the Governor promises to let loose a volley that will echo from coast to coast.

"Until Thursday night," the Governor said, "I shall have little if anything to say regarding campaign funds, but I believe the facts I shall present at Pittsburgh will prove interesting, to say the least."

The Governor speaks at Evansville tonight.

SEARLES' CASTLE MAY BE USED

Great Barrington Folk Conjecture Over Disposition of Recluse's Mansion

Great Barrington, Aug. 25.—Will Arthur T. Walker occupy the $1,000,000 castle here left him by the will of Edward F. Searles, the Methuen multi-millionaire? This is the question uppermost in the minds of caretakers of the great estate and of residents of this town.

With the exception of Bernard F. Hopkins, chief caretaker, who recently left for Boston to have a talk with Mr. Walker, none of the staff of employes knows what manner of man the new owner is or what he looks like.

Mr. Searles was known as a recluse, and in the thirty-eight years that caretakers have been employed on the estate here, they say that Mr. Walker has never made a visit, nor did they ever hear of him until his name became known through the will.

Mr. Searles himself spent but little time here, preferring his place at Methuen, to which eventually all the furnishings of the Great Barrington mansion were removed. The assessed value of the place is $350,830, but it is believed to be worth three times that amount.

LABORERS EXPRESS THANKS TO AMERICAN

Editor American:

The laborers, undersigned, wish to tender their appreciation for the strong editorial appearing in Monday's American.

Yours is the first publication to take up cudgels in behalf of the lowest paid workers of their kind in the United States. As you have aptly stated, the pay is not a living wage to the average family and is limited to that low amount by statute law.

We are at present agitating to have the onerous limit of $840 per annum removed or our designation of "Laborer" changed, so that we may also have a chance to get a living wage from the only employer who admittedly pays less than a living wage for a day's work.

We also wish to call attention to the fact that we are required to pass the same Civil Service examination as all Third-Grade workers, some of whom receive up to $1,400 per annum. (Signed):

FIND 27 CASES, BUT NO WHISKEY

It was evident the contents had been poured into other containers by the roadside.

Child Almost Dead Grandmother Saves Life

Roxbury, Mass. A grandmother in Roxbury writes: "I put great faith in your medicine, and one of my children was dying. The doctor said she could not live until morning, and I ran out to the drug store, got a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir, came home, gave her a dose, and in a little while she could sit right up. I gave her the other half. I thought it's either kill or cure, for the doctor says she is dying anyway, but she did not die. She went to sleep the first sleep for a week, and the next morning she passed two worms, red in color, six inches long. The doctor came to see if she was dead, but found her very quick, for she was sitting in her chair eating a bowl of oatmeal and milk. That was twenty-four years ago, and now she has a family of her own, seven months old, who is also using Dr. True's Elixir. (None on Request.)

Constipation, headache, tired feeling, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness can be relieved if you take the prescription known as Dr. True's Elixir, The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. It has done much for sick people, men, women and children, over since 1831—over 68 years' reputation.

Make Dr. True's Elixir one to be your children. The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. AT ALL DEALERS. Dr. J. F. True & Co., Auburn, Me.

URGES FUND FOR IDLE HAVERHILL SHOE MEN

Haverhill, Aug. 25.—Ray C. Durgin, furniture dealer, at a meeting of the Municipal Council, advocated the establishment of a fund for the relief of "American citizens" who want work and cannot secure it in Haverhill.

With 15,000 shoe workers in idleness, Mr. Durgin's action was taken as the result of the deadlock between the trustees of the Haverhill Shoe Manufacturers and the general officials of the Shoe Workers' Protective Union over the various articles in the peace pact offered to the association by the union as a solution of the present industrial situation in the city.

WOMAN'S HEAD SEEN IN RIVER

Police Hope Recovery May Solve Mystery of Decapitated Body's Identity

New York, Aug. 25.—Police redoubled their efforts to solve the mystery of the identity of the headless and limbless torso of a woman found in the Hudson River, when a boatman reported that he had seen a woman's head floating in Hell Gate, where the East River joins Long Island Sound.

It is believed recovery of the head will supply identification and probably the cause of the woman's death.

It had been stated by a New Jersey physician that a severed head would not float, but New York police believe the boatman's story and are continuing their search for it.

The boatman said the strong tide carried the head away before he could reach it.

TRUCKS GROW IN POPULARITY

Ideal for "Short Haul" in View of Increased Freight Rates

By C. F. DONNOCKER.

With the recent increase in freight rates, which has been allowed, the utility of the motor truck for short hauls becomes more and more evident. In fact, the truck now stands supreme as a means of transportation from factories to tidewater and rails, especially in New England where the many enormous factories are located from ten to thirty miles from shipping points.

TRUCKS ECONOMICAL.

While this fact has been recognized by many a wide-awake merchant there are still those who have failed to see "the handwriting on the wall." If it was found economical to transport raw materials from Boston to Lowell, Haverhill and other cities and the finished product back to this city by means of horse-driven vehicles in the old days (and the writer has been informed on good authority that this is so), how much more economical it must be to use a fleet of motor trucks!

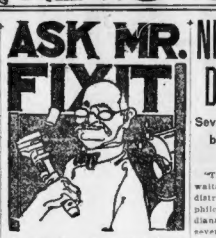
New England, without doubt, constitutes today one of the best markets for motor trucks in the country and the possibilities for rural deliveries are legion. Motor truck lines can be established to many more points than are now included in the itineraries of the very few trucking concerns doing business.

EXPERTS OFFER AID.

This section can be interwoven with a network of motor truck delivery systems which will place New England in the front ranks of all the states which have successfully solved this very important economic question of modern business.

If you have delivery problems to solve, get in touch with any of the motor truck dealers of this city and let them help you. They are experts on the question and their advice is invaluable to your business.

ASK MR. FIXIT



Dear Mr. Fixit: What dangers, if any, are there in using a G. D. inner tube?

You can use either style, as a G. D. tube and use as S. S. run. I have been told that this works out very satisfactorily.

Dear Mr. Fixit: Is there any special merit in the "race and ball" tube of spark plug or is regular-priced ones satisfactory?

I believe it is suitable for $2 and many motorists use it. It will be found to be somewhat more expensive, but to be more efficient and all around satisfactory than any other type of plug. Do you think they are superior to other plugs? W. M. D., Newport, R. I.

Regarding the spark plug you speak of, we cannot recommend any special type of plug as efficient. Some would suggest that you try one of these first and see what results you have. If your motor is satisfactory you can get plugs for the rest of your motor.

Dear Mr. Fixit: We are thinking about going to Newburgh, New York, by automobile from Boston. Will you kindly advise what would be the best route and how many miles it is? R. B. S., Hartford, Conn.

Can only give you general route. From Boston to Worcester, Hartford, West Conn. and then through Canton, New Hartford, Winsted to Norfolk, Conn. From Salisbury, Lakeville and Salisbury Center, Amenia, Wassaic, Millbrook, South Millpoint, Washington Depot to Newtownhouse. From Poughkeepsie follow the Hudson to Wappingers Falls and Fishkill to Beacon where you cross the river to Newburgh.

Dear Mr. Fixit: Would you kindly notify me if you know if there is a school out here where I could learn to drive and also learn all the parts of the automobile? I have had the chance to buy an automobile very cheap and some were in session for ten weeks one lesson being given each week. This was a free course, and all that was necessary was to purchase a book which sold for $3.50. Thanking you for any information which you may be able to furnish me and assuring you a reply would be greatly appreciated I am, Yours truly, J. M. A.

The T. M. C. A. has a very good automobile school. The Y. W. C. A. has a school on the same principle at the old Berry Dance Hall, 204 Berkeley street. I understand this is an evening school.

Miss D. B. South Braintree writes in as a course and if you do the tires you have references by using about fourteen or fifteen courses. She has been advised by different people to take different courses and teachers but do not believe that any of these teachers use what I would consider that you have to spring learn straightened and pulled out with power, paper and then covered with enamelling. This will insure a smooth setting and believe it will take care of your difficulty.

MARGARET DILLON IS STABLED AT READVILLE

After a successful campaign at the early meetings of the Bay State Circuit and at the Orange County, N. Y., meetings, the Boston pacing mare, Margaret Dillon, 2.08¾, is back in her old stall at the Readville track awaiting her turn next week at the Grand Circuit meeting at the famous two-minute track. This young mare, the property of H. H. Tranor, who dubs his campaigning string the "Sunshine Stable," holds an enviable distinction so far this season, having won every race in which she has been a part with the loss of but one heat.

NEW LA FAYETTE DUE IN BOSTON

Seven Passenger Model Embodies Latest Features in Auto Development

"The best things come to him who waits," is the way C. P. Rockwell, distributor of the new LaFayette, philosophized upon advice from Indianapolis that his first LaFayette, a seven-passenger model, will reach the local showrooms at No. 810 Commonwealth avenue within a few days.

Hundreds of owners of fine cars have been eager for a glimpse of the new LaFayette since its features were disclosed at the New York and Chicago shows last Winter.

Mr. Rockwell is reluctant to describe any of the details of the LaFayette until his first model arrives.

"I should rather have convinced spectators than painted incredulous auditors," he said. "The LaFayette will speak for itself in appearance and performance."

Since the Winter shows, however, it has been known that the LaFayette is powered by an eight that delivers in excess of ninety-horse power.

BOX COATS AND CAPES OF FUR HOLD POPULARITY

The box coat of fur which was so popular last season will still hold its own. Fur capes used for the street as well as for evening wear are new and most attractive. They are simply cut with a slit for the arms, with the same big collars we have worn heretofore. Kolinsky is one of the great favorites, as well as seal, the seal coat being trimmed with a contrasting fur collar or not, as is found becoming.

The necklaces to wear with suits will be both large and small, and with a muff to match is more frequently carried than with a fur coat. Muffs vary in size, the smart tendency being towards the plain, round one.—September Good Housekeeping.

TENNIS STARS DEFAULT MEADOW CLUB MATCHES

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The entire group of California tennis stars, including William M. Jonhston, Roland Roberts and Willis E. Davis, defaulted their matches when play was resumed in the men's tennis Eagles tournament for the Meadow Club cup here. Charles S. Garland of Pittsburgh, winner of the Meadow Club cup last year, also defaulted his match. The explanation offered for the action is that the Coast stars say that they have overplayed themselves and feel in need of a rest before the national meeting at Forest Hills next week.

EIGHTEENTH VICTORY FOR CONCORD JUNCTION

The Concord Junction nine playing errorless ball, won its eighteenth victory of the season, defeating the Lever Brothers' Company team, 2 to 1, in a snappy seven-inning twilight game on the Concord Junction playground.

HUTCHINSON AND AYRES BEAT BRITISH GOLFERS

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Jock Hutchinson, Western open champion, and Laurie Ayres defeated Ted Ray and Harry Vardon, the English golf experts, 7 and 6, on the links of the Glenview Club.

Put 12th Tour "Bible" on Blue Book List

Nowadays a motorist who hasn't driven his car in at least six States sits in jealous silence in the back of any self-propelled gathering and resolves to "bust" out at the first opportune moment on a long-distance tour.

But the six-staters and even those who own and use five different volumes of the Automobile Blue Books aren't satisfied. More and more of them are speaking of the coast to coast trip as "a jaunt." And Louisiana licenses aren't as common in Boston as—well, as Massachusetts licenses are in San Diego. The long tour is long no longer.

And recognizing this fact, and because of the improvements in makers of the Automobile Blue Books have added another to their eleven volumes of road guidance.

The Transcontinental Volume 12—Volume 12 just published, is a new tour Bible especially built to satisfy that lust for long tours.

Volume T say the Blue Book scouts, contains 15,000 miles of routes—not including return routes—and, considering that it is only about 3,000 miles from San Francisco to New York, the scope of the information included can be appreciated.

Permit Yankees to Buy Own Grounds

Philadelphia, Aug. 25 — At a meeting of the American League here it was agreed unanimously that each New York club purchase its own grounds. At present the club is using the Polo Grounds, but as the management of the New York National League requested a cancellation of their agreement it was decided to make a change.

COURSE IS TEST FOR 20 SHOTS

Golfers Who Desire Some Real Work Should Play at Kernwood Tomorrow

By ROBERT E. HARLOW

Golfers who enjoy playing over a course which provides the best in testing second shots and true putting greens will miss a fine opportunity if they fail to enter the thirty-six-hole medal play tournament tomorrow at the Kernwood Country Club, Salem.

The event has been opened to all golfers with handicaps of twelve strokes or less and the starting times are likely to be taken up hours before Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, when the first pair will tee off. Although post entries will be accepted, golfers who wish to be sure of playing should telephone Salem 2 for starting time.

There are some excellent golf holes at Kernwood. From the back tees, which will be used in the tournament, the second shots will be necessary to reach the green on the two-shot holes. The short holes are all well constructed and require perfect shots if the par is to be obtained.

* * *

It is difficult to find enough daylight to allow all who wish to play in golf tournaments starting times. At the Tedesco Country Club Tuesday a number of golfers found that all starting times had been spoken for and were unable to compete in the open event there. One hundred and seventy-five played the course.

F. G. Munro of the United Shoe course won the low gross with 76 strokes, one less than R. M. Purves of Woodland used. Best net in Class A was won by Robert V. Cox of Tedesco, who had a gross of 79 and a handicap of eight.

The winners in class B were: Cross, J. M. Batchelder, 86—12—70; net, N. H. Smith, Brae-Burn, 88—18—71. Class C, gross, King Ludington, Tedesco, with an 88. Best net, A. H. Sumner, Tedesco, 95—23—72.

R. C. Van Arsdale and H. G. Welbern of Woodland do not miss many tournaments. They are off to Rye Beach for the three day event there.

Beckettosaur vs. Dempseyosaur

(DRAWING AND ARTICLE BY CAPTAIN BRUCE BAIRNSFATHER IN THE LONDON "BYSTANDER").

The Beckettosaur.

"Found in the alluvial deposits near Southampton. It has also been found nearly impossible to extricate. Scientists have agreed that the horny projections marked A and B enabled it to punch anything from a tram ticket upward. The list of names carved on a Punch ball, and found near the spot, is possibly a list of victims."

The "Bystander" places great faith in the "Beckettosaur." In the list of names "found carved on a Punch ball" we find the venerable Tommy Burns, the archaic Dan Flynn, the tumbling Bombardier Wells, the pugilistic ghost of Eddie McGoorty, and the remains of Harry Smith, Dick Smith and Montana Dan Sullivan.

Although the "Beckettosaur" met Carpentier, we do not discover George's epitaph in the "Bystander's" list of meals for the monster. Why? Because the Frenchman knocked Mr. Beckett for a row of gooseberry bushes.

Carpentier was only one-half the Englishman's stature, but he proved Terry McGovern's theory that a giant isn't tall when he's on his shoulder blades. Beckett is still picking knuckles out of his appetite.

And if England doesn't want to lose a good piano mover they had better keep the "Beckettosaur" away from "Dempseyosaur."

Dempsey will hit him so hard King George will fall out of his high chair.

COACH FISHER PICKS AIDES

Harvard Football Season to Open on Soldiers Field Tuesday, September 7

Bob Fisher, head coach of the Harvard football team, has selected most of his associate coaches for the coming Fall. Dick Wigglesworth will be in charge of the backfield, and is expected to duplicate his success of last year. Charlie Coolidge will have the ends again and Wallie Trumbull will look after the tackles. The guards will be taken care of by Bill Snow and Dr. Dorrie Parmenter will have the centers, while Jimmie Knox will coach the second team. Coach Fisher hasn't yet picked a freshman mentor. Harvard's practice season opens the day after Labor Day, but the managers meet a week from tomorrow to prepare for the season's opening.

DEMPSEY FIT FOR TITLE BATTLE WITH MISKE LABOR DAY

CHAMPION TRIES OUT PUNCH

Efforts Now All Directed Toward Greater Accuracy in Hitting

By JACK DEMPSEY,
Heavyweight Champion of the World.

The worst part of my training for my bout with Miske is over, and I'm immeasurably happy of it.

The actual fighting in the ring is an easy assignment for a pugilist, compared with the training routine. I have known a lot of fighters in my time, but I never met one who could get joy out of training, especially the early weeks of it.

The ordinary fan may be surprised to know that when a battler takes up a rigorous training schedule he has as hard a time of it as does a person of sedentary habits who is suddenly tossed into a gymnasium and told to work a few hours every day. There is for the fighter, the same as for the layman, during the first week, the same sore muscles, the same strain and frequently a sort of "sickish" feeling.

Always Groggy During First Week.

In my own particular case it doesn't seem to make much difference how strictly I adhered to at least a moderate training schedule. I always experience a sort of grogginess during the first week that I take up serious training.

All during the Winter, while in California, I guarded my health and physical condition. I adhered to a training schedule which I had mapped out for myself and it was rather strict at that. I did road work, boxed, and occupied my leisure moments in the gymnasium. And all the while I was feeling in tip-top shape.

Dempsey Had to Force Himself to Work

During June I had to abandon training because I was in San Francisco for my trial and for some months afterward didn't get much chance to train because I was traveling. In mid-July, when I took up the old grind in New York in preparation for my fight with Miske, I had to force myself to hard work for the first few days.

But that training in New York was great for me.

I worked every day for twenty-five straight days and I didn't do any loafing. Every day—except when the clouds were overcast—I worked in a field uncovered with all the zest and enthusiasm I could toss into the task. Those first seven or ten days, though, they were mighty hard on me. But I gradually worked off the stiffness and soreness and at the end of the second week I was able to travel along through the various degrees of exercise, and still feel full of energy at the conclusion.

Devoted Time to Speeding Up

Those days that I spent in New York were devoted very largely to speeding me up. I didn't try out my punch much because most of the time I was busying around with little fellows. They didn't give me hitting practice, but they gave me some splendid workouts in the matter of leg work, ducking and dodging, which will prove of inestimable benefit to me.

It is in Benton Harbor where I shall cut loose with the old wallop and find out how good it still is. Of course, while in New York and found that at first I was not hitting the targets quite as squarely as I used to. But in another week or so I guess I will get the distance right and be able once more to clout effectively.

And by Labor Day—well, the right and the left will be in perfect working order and I'll try to demonstrate to Billy Miske that they've lost none of their power.

INTERNATIONAL TEAM RACE AT OVAL TONIGHT

A fifty-mile three-cornered international team race will be the feature at the new Revere Cycle Track tonight, with Percy Lawrence and Charles Thomas representing the United States, George Wiley and Tony Colombatto as the Italian team, and Leon Didier and Daniel Lavialade upholding the honor of France.

Wiley is filling in for Madonna who was originally booked to ride.

The event is the first of its kind staged in New England for more than ten years, and in sure to bring out a series of fast fields and spirited. The men are very evenly matched, which insures a close contest.

In addition to the big event Manager Bulley has slated a banner card of amateur and professional races.

Western Titlist Wins

Chicago, Aug. 25.—In the first match round in the Women's Western golf championship tournament at Oak Park Country Club, Mrs. Perry Pisk of Kishwaukee, defending the title, beat Melvin Jones of Glen Oak, medalist in the qualifying round; Miss Hilsaneh Kelly, Indian Hill, city champion; Mrs. Dave Gaut, Memphis, medalist two years ago, and Mrs. F. S. Pritchard, Battle Creek, and Mrs. F. C. Letts, Jr., Onwentsia, former winners of the honor, came through successfully.

Arlington Wins

The strong Arlington twilight baseball club defeated the All Stars of Cambridge, 6 to 5, in an eight-inning game on Spy Pond Athletic Field, Arlington.

By JACK CONWAY.

Revere will blossom forth as a major league boxing centre tomorrow night when the Revere Post of the American Legion stages five ten-round bouts at the Cycle Track. Matchmaker Frank Ducey has secured the services of some of the best boxers in the country and as a result a stirring program of bouts is assured. The record-breaking capacity of the Revere track made it possible for Ducey to book such a high class card. The program follows:

Joe Tiplits, Philadelphia, vs. Johnny Downes, South Boston, ten rounds.

Harry (Kid) Brown, Philadelphia, vs. Harry Carlson, Brockton, ten rounds.

Paul Doyle, Boston, vs. Eddie McAndrews, Philadelphia, ten rounds.

Young Montreal, Providence, vs. Barney Snyder, Roxbury, ten rounds.

Harry Martin, Providence, vs. Freddy Madden, East Boston, ten rounds.

It is difficult to name one bout as the star affair of the evening as the teams are all headed by men in the pugilistic world. Tiplits, who meets Downes in the final bout, has been a big winner in his New England starts. He is a southpaw who likes to fight. Inasmuch as Downes is also a regular fighting person there should be plenty of action crowded into this mill.

Carlson Confident of Stopping Brown

Harry Carlson believes he will stop the winning drive of Harry (Kid) Brown of Philadelphia. Just now Brockton Harry looks like an honest-to-goodness come-back. At Brockton last Saturday he won a decision over Jimmy Fryzell.

Young Montreal, one of the best bantamweights in the country, will not lack for backers in his tussle with Barney Snyder of Roxbury. Then there will be the bout between Doyle and McAndrews and the frolic between Martin and Madden to help along the evening's entertainment.

Noah Perry and Joe O'Connor will be the referees. The assessments will be $2, $3, $4 and $5. Reservations may be secured at No. 29 Court street, Room 16, the Revere Cycle Track on the day and evening of the show and at Room 8, Elks Building, Lynn.

Renault After Bout with Levinsky

Following his victory over Jack Savage of Taunton, Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight champion, let it be known he wanted to get bouts with either Jack (Twin) Sullivan or Battling Levinsky. Renault has been winning steadily and feels sure he can dispose of any of the big fellows.

Donovan Directing Conley's Affairs

Johnny Donovan of South Boston called today to inform us that he is directing the affairs of Tommy Conley, champion bantamweight of the Navy. Conley, a Boston boy, is back home after three years of service in the navy. While at Californian stations he fought Memphis Pal Moore and Danny Krammer. Donovan is prepared to match his protege with any of the local lads.

Montgomery Matched to Meet Maguire

Jim Montgomery, Irish middleweight champion, has been matched to meet Art Magiri in a ten-round bout at Newport Friday night. Montgomery is a strong, hard-hitting fellow and feels sure he will dispose of Magiri.

Danny Krammer Quits Manager

Danny Krammer, like a lot of other ungrateful fighters, has cast aside the man who was responsible for his initial success in [illegible] ston after his return from California. George Carter placed Krammer in the spotlight through hard work and, according to Carter, at first appeared to be grateful for what had been done in his behalf. He said it was a pleasure to fight bouts on their merits and not the way he is said to have admitted taking part in a certain affair in California. It is not known yet with whom Krammer intends to associate himself. Maybe after he has received a couple of bumpings in the ring he may come to his senses. If things are not what they are painted as being.

Sharkey-Martin Bout Tickets in Demand

There is a big demand for reservations for the twelve-round bout between Terry Martin and Jack Sharkey that will be staged in Mechanics Building next Tuesday night under the direction of the Armory A. A. When this pair last met, honors were declared fifty-fifty after twelve rounds of milling. Many of the fans were of the opinion Martin had the best of the battling. As a result the Providence youth will not lack for backers at post time Tuesday night. There will be popular assessments for this show.

TAD'S TIDBITS

HOW FLYNN DISCOVERED NORFOLK.

"I'm going into a fight club one night," piped Leo Flynn, "and two boobhacks are within a block of the joint fighting like two wildcats. I stopped the fight and says, 'Here, I'll slip each of you guys a five spot if you'll finish this with gloves.' They yes me and I takes 'em into the club. Well, one of them is six foot high and the other is a little bloke so black that fireflies would foller him in the daytime. They put up the first prelim and it was a whale. It only lasted three rounds because the jobbie quit. I went over to him and said: 'You ain't through, are you?' He looked at me and then started to climb out of the ring. When he hit the second ring he piped, 'AIN TOO GAME A MAN TO BE TAKIN' A LICKIN' LIKE THAT.'

"The little fellow was Kid Norfolk. I signed him up that night."

A Newark man was arrested for climbing a telegraph pole and going to sleep lying across the wires. He might have stayed on earth and done some tall lying over the wires without being arrested.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, Secretary of Ireland, says the peace conference passed by the English Parliament will do justice to Ireland. Yes: in the same way that John Bull, sitting down with knife and fork before a roast of beef, would "do justice to it."

Pacific Coast Fans Peeved.

The baseball writers of the coast are issuing squawks about the dude that are peddled to them from the big leagues.

They say that glowing reports are sent out about these birds, then a fancy price set. A month after the find arrives he is sent to the boneyard. Abe Kemp tells a few pips.

Cal Ewing of the Oakland Club bought a catcher from Chicago who had a broken arm. Cal hired Hen Berry of Los Angeles if he wanted another Johnny Kling. Berry bought him, piped the broken wing and wired back to Ewing:

"This guy can only use his right when there's a fork in it. Why didn't you tell me?"

Then Ewing shot back the old joke about the guy that bought the sick horse. He said:

"They didn't tell me anything about it. I thought it was a secret."

Another catcher that the Frisco club bought, pulled a pip in his first game. A runner was caught off third, the pitcher and third baseman running him up and down. Finally the new guy grabbed the ball and threw it like a shot to the manager, who was playing off third and threw it like a shot to the manager walked up to the toward short. After it was all over the manager walked up to the catcher and yelled:

"Am I the only man that you know in the WHOLE LEAGUE?"

Another time the Oakland manager, standing a couple of feet from the Eastern boy, called on another player having been ordered out of the game, called on another player having been ordered out of the game, called on another player and told him to play with his back right against the fence. Eastern boy and told him to play with his back right against the fence.

"But suppose a fly ball comes out near me," piped the dud in surprise.

"Don't touch it," yelled the manager, "I'M ONLY USING YOU BECAUSE I HAVE TO HAVE NINE MEN."

British Girls Condemn New Hirsute Fad

London, Aug. 25.—"Cheeks like a cocoanut doormat without the cocoanut" is the way a fashion expert describes the latest facial adornment adopted by fashionable young Britishers. The latter are sacrificing their mouth lashes for forming "mutton chops."

The women are up in arms against this reversion to the early Victorian days, and young blonds with "mind reasoning" are threatened with boycott at smart net parties.

Carpentier Coming Over Next Month

Paris, Aug. 25.—Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe, will sail September 4 for the United States on the steamship Lorraine of the French line. This was definitely announced by Carpentier's manager Francois Descamps. Carpentier is scheduled to fight Battling Levinsky a fifteen-round bout to a decision in Brooklyn on October 12.

This week the twenty league winners in these various games will compete in elimination contests until only two winning teams for each game are left. These teams will play in the finals to decide the city championship.

The finals in all the games will take place Friday morning, August 27. These contests will begin at 9:45 a.m.

K. OF C. TEAMS TO MEET AT OUTING SATURDAY

The baseball fans of Brockton, Stoughton and Randolph will have a chance Saturday of seeing the Jamaica Plain Knights of Columbus team, the present leaders of the "Class" championship race, in action, as this team has been secured to meet the team of the Mattapan Council at the annual outing of the latter at Glen Echo Grove, Randolph.

CUBS VS. BRAVES IN FINAL GAME

Stallings Anxious to Land Farewell Contest Before Series With Pirates

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Something always happens to make life miserable for ball clubs that are going home for a rest. For instance, Umpire Pete Harrison reversed himself on a play at the plate and caused the Cubs and Braves to go into the last half of the ninth inning, depriving them of a chance for an earlier supper. The incident happened in the fifth inning. Enough hits had been made to ease Herzog over the plate, breaking the Alexander record on second and Flack on first, when Terry piled a hit to centre field. Alex scored for the plate and Flack sailed for third only to be tagged out on Powell made a perfect throw to Boeckel.

Umpire Harrison, who was behind the bat, made motions indicating that Alex crossed the platter before Flack was extinguished. Yorke of equally the Braves. Catcher Hank Gowdy cast most of his tools into the argument air and leaped about like a whirling dervish. There was a heap of hollering. Harrison consulted his associate, Bob Hart, and as a result it was decided that Alex had not tallied. Maybe he hadn't. This altered the game into the last half of the ninth, when the Cubs won and the decision did damage to nobody, in a manner of speaking.

Braves Collect 12 Hits Off Alex

The Braves might have won but for the sudden outbursts of Buck Herzog. He turned on his former associates and knocked them cuckoo.

All he did was score two of the Cubs' three runs and drive in the final. This was a fair day's work for any man.

The Braves have the satisfaction of knowing they nicked the great Alexander for twelve hits, including a pair of doubles by Tony Boeckel, regardless of the results of the contest, the day was not a total loss for the Corbett brothers who attend base knock.

The series ended today and the Braves pass on to Pittsburgh, where the Pirates are making desperate efforts to remain in the first division. Tyler and McQuillan were to hurl the final combat.

RED SOX OPEN WITH BROWNS

Locals Have Fighting Chance to Get Into the First Division

By NICK FLATLEY.

The Red Sox, who collected four out of five from the shattered Cleveland machine, are now confronted by a real chance to horn into the first division. The St. Louis Browns, who are anchored on the low spot of the real classy half of the A. L., arrived today and will linger around until the end of the week.

Said Browns, who have been going at a fifty-fifty clip, are some three and a half games ahead of the Sox, who haven't been able to gain much in the past month. A clean sweep of the four scheduled bouts would shoot the Sox into fourth place, which is the object of their drive just now.

They haven't a chance to crawl any higher, unless the Cleveland team blows completely to pieces, but there will be some satisfaction in getting out of the absolute also ran class.

Beating Out Browns No Soft Job

Nosing out the Browns isn't going to prove any soft proposition, however, as that team has netted a couple of decent young pitchers to support the regulars, and is consequently pretty well fixed to stand a tough drive. Two of the recruits took a double-header away from the Mackmen here today and while that's nothing much to brag about, it's pretty good work for youngsters.

Further, it leaves the vets all lined up to assault the Fenway flock, who had a pretty soft time of it while the unfortunate Indians were lingering about. The Sox wind up the season on the trail, and accordingly are anxious to tuck away all the victories possible before they step out again.

For today's game Waite Hoyt, who has blanked the Indians with three hits Saturday was ready to come back, as was Herbie Pennock, who pot-formed similarly on the half holiday. As the invaders' punch works from the off side of the plate—meaning C. Elsler—it shaped up like a pretty good day for the southpaws.

The expected Shocker and Rothoron, a pair of useful right-handers, to start against the pretenders for their positions, and as neither team has an awful lot to worry about, Manager Miller Huggins and Joseph Sullivan, Woodland, 4 and 8.

BRADY AND GURNETT WIN FOUR-BALL MATCH

Bretton Woods, N. H., Aug. 25.—Mike Brady, now of Detroit, and D. A. Gurnett, Belmont Springs, beat G. J. Dunphy, Mt. Prospect, and Joseph Sullivan, Woodland, 4 and 8.

'Bugs' Baer's Column

Jack Dempsey rolls means set of ring dice.

• • •

Those double fives are mournful numbers—throws 'em too fast for a man to count.

• • •

Miske hopes that he is all set to pull and haul with Dempsey. Brennan is also primed to shake with Jack, break, and use the canvas for a blanket and the sponge for a pillow.

The last time Brennan thought he was fighting Dempsey, Jack picked one off the floor and laid it down recently on Brennan's head. The sock broke Bill's ankle.

• • •

Brennan's ankle is now better, but it seems that his head never recovered. Bill will grab a flock of grands for pulling the clay pigeon stuff for fifteen rounds, but the money in the life insurance that somebody else collects. You'd think a guy who ever met Dempsey would think twice before going to sleep on the tracks again.

• • •

Stoo many. He oughtn't to think twice. Ought to think only once and then fight out for some foreign strand that has no extradition treaty with the star spangled States of equal suffrage and daily amendments.

• • •

Willard is another yazoo who listened to papa's knuckle lullaby and thinks that he could do better in a return shindig. Tommy Lipton is a gourmand for challenges, but it's Tommy boiled that takes the heatings, no? Tommy... If yachts were blows, Tommy wouldn't build more than one.

• • •

Carpentier had a yen to meet a large cash bonus first and Dempsey second. When Georges piped Dempsey's back muscles, he proceeded to show America his own.

• • •

Fulton is the only biscuit that stayed cooked. He doesn't want to pitch dice again with a bimbo who throws so many double fives in habit-forming quantities.

• • •

That's Dempsey's only fault. He will throw those double fives. And two eight-ounce gloves ain't much protection on a set of anvil mitts. Maybe drinking wood alcohol out of a lily cup.

• • •

Brennan may fight Jack again but you know that Bill's heart won't be in the ring. If it is, it won't be only because he has it firmly laced up inside one of his shoes.

• • •

Miske gave the low-down on Dempsey by apparently pulling and hauling eight rounds with him in the Middle West. There must have been more pulling than hauling because Miske refused to ever box Jack a six-round exhibition for war exercise.

• • •

Can't blame him much, when you are throwing with a boy who doesn't throw anything lighter than double fives.

'NEW RECORD FOR KAHANAMOKU

Duke Breaks Own Mark in 100-Metre Swim; Judges Throw Out Race, Then Allow It

Antwerp, Aug. 25.—America started the swimming events of the Olympic games in style when Duke Kahanamoku, the wonderful Hawaiian, broke his own world record for the 100-metre free style swim. His time was one minute and two-fifths second.

Immediately after the announcement of the finish, the judge declared the race would have to be held over again because Americans had boxed Herald, the Australian entrant. By a later decision the Duke's record was acknowledged and stands.

The water polo team, consisting of Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Jensen and Vosberg of the Illinois A. C., and H. Taylor, Chicago; Nil Vollmer, New York, and Carson of the Olympic Club defeated the Greek team 7 to 6.

CHAPTER XXIII.—Continued

ACCORDING to his philosophy there was nothing else on earth to do about it. Doubtless she'd ultimately forgive him, but her respect he couldn't hope for at present; and as for any deeper sentiment, if ever there had been any hope in his heart that he might one day awaken it, now he knew it was wriggling in its death-throes, making him, by turns, either frightfully unhappy or recklessly reckless.

Not a Weak Man

The hopeless part of it was that, unlike weaker men, he had no desire to drown sorrow in any irregular and unworthy fashion.

Many men of many minds turn to many things seeking the anodyne in one form or another—the nepenthe of forgetfulness, rarer than the philosopher's stone.

Neither wine nor the dreary quest for heart-ease among frailer companions ever appeals to any but weak minds. And the boy, not knowing what to do, turned to his work with a renewed energy resembling desperation.

It is the only hope for ultimate anesthesia.

Also, he took to prowling by night, being too unhappy to remain in his studio so near to Stephanie.

He prowled about Broadway and Long Acre with Badger Spink, whose restless cleverness and self-absorption ended by wearying him; he prowled with Clarence Verne one night, encountering that strange sphinx by accident, and strolling with him at hazard through the purlieus of Chelsea.

Both men seemed deeply preoccupied with problems of their own, and though they knew each other only slightly they maintained the reticence of intimacy—an odd assumption, as Cleland thought afterward.

Yet, one of them was very sick for love, and the other very sick of it; and, besides, there moved with them a third and unseen companion, through the crooked, lamp-lit street, whose shrouded arm was linked in Verne's, and perhaps that accounted for the sombre silence which brooded between these men in trouble.

Verne said at parting—and gazing absently at nothing while he spoke:

"The tragedy of civilization—of what the world calls civilization!—that is the most terrible of all, Cleland. That is the one and only hell. Not the ruthless eruptions of barbarism; not the momentary resurgence of atavistic violence—of red-handed rapine and murder; but the ordered, lawful, stealthy, subtle horrors of civilization; they slay men's souls."

"I don't get you, Verne."

"No, Cleland. But somebody else will—somebody else will get me—very soon, now. . . . Goodbye."

A few days later Cleland prowled with Harry Belter, intent upon supper somewhere in the outer marches of the town.

For an episode had occurred that shook them both with the most sobering and distressing jar that youth experiences in fullest mental and physical vigor.

"I don't see how a man can kill himself," said Cleland. "I don't see why he can't go somewhere else and cure himself of his unhappiness. Travel, change, new faces"—

"Perhaps he wants to be rid of faces," muttered Belter.

"There are wonderful wildernesses."

"Perhaps he's too tired to admire 'em. Perhaps he's half dead for sleep."

"You talk as though you sympathized and understood, Harry."

"I do!"

"You! The indefatigable optimist! You, the ever-welcome, the gay consoler, the irrepressible spirit among us!"

"If I didn't play the role I'd do what Clarence Verne did!"

A Tragic Tale

"What?"

"Long ago," added Belter.

"For God's sake, why? I never dreamed"——

"You were away, three years, having a good time abroad, weren't you? How should you know what happened to others?"

"Did something happen to you, Harry?"

"It did. If you wish to know exactly what, I'll tell you what happened to me was a woman. Now you know something that nobody else knows—except that demon and myself."

"But such things"——

"No. Such things destroy, ultimately. I'll die of her, one day."

"Nonsense!"

But Belter, the jester, laughed a terrifying laugh and sauntered into the open door of the restaurant which they had walked a mile or two to find.

"It's a low pub," he remarked, "and suitable to my mind." They seated themselves at a dirty table. One or two newspaper men nodded to Belter. A confidence man, whispering to a painted mulatto girl, turned to scrutinize him; a ruffianly barkeeper saluted him cordially. There was a grill glowing beyond the bar. A waiter, shrouded arm on hip, came up and stood leaning on their table with both hairy hands spread flat on the polished top.

"Well, gents, what is it?" he asked hoarsely.

They gave their order. Then Belter, leaning forward and planting both elbows on the table, said in a low voice:

"They call me a caricaturist, but, by God, Cleland, I'm a realist! I've learned more about women by caricaturing them than I've ever read in their smooth confessions. They are caricatures. In their secret souls—every one of them—and when I exaggerate a weak point and ignore everything but the essential character lines and contours, by Jingo, Cleland, I've discovered 'em—exposed 'em as they really are!—distorted caricatures of human beings."

Realism Defined

Cleland disagreed with him, gloomily amazed at his bitterness.

"No," said Belter, "if you tell the mere truth about them they're a nuisance! We don't understand 'em. Why? There's very little to understand and take it all on the surface as plain as the nose on your face!—too plain for us to notice. And you writers explore and dissect 'em, seeking deeper where there are shallows, mysteries where there are facts, subtleties where everything is obvious. And you end, with both mind, they have a few traits because they have precious little character."

Relieve Your Rheumatism For 25c.

NR does it by improving digestion, assimilation and elimination—the logical way.

NR Today—Relief or No Pay

There are three vital processes of human existence,—the digestion of food, the assimilation of that food into it and the elimination of the waste.

Let anything interfere with these processes,—let them be interrupted or improperly carried on, and sickness of some kind follows.

Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism,—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons,—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body.

This is one reason why Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is so successful in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days, may help you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing.

And Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidneys and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the whole system. You'll feel like a new person when you've taken NR Tablets a week. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. When a Girl Marries

By Ann Lisle

"YOU'RE going to Reno—to give Virginia the one gift she can't refuse—her freedom." I repeated mechanically, staring at Pat with a complete sense of unreality.

It seemed a bad dream. Or some malicious fairy's twisted conception of drama. For Pat was expressing the very idea Virginia had so proudly worked out but a short time ago, the plan from which I wasn't more than half sure that I had diverted her.

"You can't. You mustn't," I gasped."

"I can and I must," replied Pat grimly. "Why do you question it? What other way out is there? What other solution has there been since the night when you tried to bring us together in your own home and she couldn't be getting away fast enough? Has she spoken to you—or Jim—since?"

"No, but that doesn't matter. It will come right in the end"—

Sadly Doubted

"Will it?" interrupted Pat. "I sadly misdoubt it, Anne. For a long time I've been going along blindly waiting for things to come, right. They don't when a woman so despises a man that she turns against her own people for the knowing of him. The miracle can't happen when a woman is filled with loathing at the thought of coming back into her old place in the world—owning her family estate—through the man who was once her husband. My gifts and I are black shame and disgrace in her eyes. I'll be going to Reno."

"The slime of the divorce court —you'll drag her through that?" I cried.

"I'll say that it doesn't befoul her," replied Pat gravely, and he swept off his hat in an unconscious gesture of contritoness.

"Then you're going to perform a great miracle," I said scornfully. "You'll go to the divorce court and wrest your freedom from the law. And people aren't going to date it all back to just such an incident as occurred at the restaurant today! Oh, no! People aren't going to glost over the choice tidbit you offer them—indeed not!"

"What do you mean?" demanded Pat.

"I mean Sheldon Blake. I mean gossip and slander. I mean the end of Virginia's good name," I replied.

"So that's what the world would be saying—that's what it will be doing to the fine pride of her," murmured Pat more to himself than to me.

After that we drove on in silence for a while. Smiling folk drove by us in luxurious cars. I wondered what dreams of life and human happiness were masked by faces that told so little of what was going on in hearts and minds.

"Of course, I'll not be going to Reno now," said Pat at last.

I reached out and laid my hand over his, hoping some message of my admiration for his chivalry would wing out through the electricity of that touch. But Pat's hand lay impassive and strangely cold under mine. I turned to him, and more than ever the terrible grimness of his face struck me.

It was masklike and drawn into old and haggard lines. The fine, proud set of his unruly head was gone and he sagged at chest and shoulders.

So Chivalrous

"Pat—you're so splendid, so chivalrous. I feel sometimes ah if you were my brother, too—like Neal," I ventured. "I want you to know how—how much I care about your happiness; how much I value our friendship."

"I know, little Anne," he said, returning pressure for pressure like the good pal he had come to be. "I know. You've stood by Jimmie, too. But it's hopeless now. You'll have to let me go it alone now."

"Not to divorce. That is decided, isn't it?" I insisted, and I don't know now whether that insistance was stupid or wise.

"Not to divorce. There's another way out. I'll take it," said Pat.

"Another way out?" I gasped almost in a daze.

Pat corrected himself, gravely.

"Some other way out. Some way. I'll find it, and finding it, be glad to take it."

"Oh, Pat, you musn't!" I cried, not knowing against what I was protesting, but at the beginning of a feeling that grew all the rest of the time I was with him—the feeling that I had to prevent something sinister and menacing. "You mustn't do a thing until you have talked it over with me—your sister. For I am that. I want to have you know that I am that."

"The dearest of sisters," replied Pat, lifting my fingers quickly to his lips with a touch of his old grace.

Recklessness Back

Then the devil-may-care-recklessness of him crept back into his voice for a minute and, instead of being welcome after the haggard droop, it frightened me more than ever.

"Faith, Alauna," said Pat, "Kindness like yours is a memory of a living well. A man might carry it into a desert of sand and loneliness with him. Or into another world."

Then such terror took me by the throat that I dared not say another word. We drove by swaying green trees and past sward of living green dappled with ardent sunshine, but the world seemed cold and gray to me—a fearsome place. Because it had come to me that Pat's other way out was a far more dreadful one even than the path of divorce. And I felt I couldn't stop him. Then Pat gave me a last bit of cruel evidence to make out my case.

"I've some affairs to settle up. I'll be going north for a week. The invitations you'll get tomorrow. I want you should have that. And when I come back, before I take the long journey I'm planning, I'll see about the Harrison place. It's for you and Jim—or Phoebe and Neal, maybe, as a wedding present. Don't protest, Anne. I can't take the Harrison place with me—where I'm going."

Advice to the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

Dignity While at Work

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am working as stenographer, my first position, for two partners, for less than a month.

I like the place, the men, and my position, but somehow I am not sociable, that is, I am very quiet and never talk much, only when my employers come in the morning, I say "good morning," and going home, "good night," and that is about all, unless I have to speak on business. I feel very embarrassed and lonely when my employers are in the office, and especially when I do not speak at all. I would like your advice as to what you think of me and what my employers think of me. I feel this way, because many girls that I know always talk when they haven't anything to do, and I simply can't be that way. Do you think that employers like the "talky girl" better than the quiet girl?

E. T.

IN spite of the many protests I hear to the contrary, there still is a lot of respect in the world for the dignified, well-poised girl. When a girl goes to business, she makes a mistake to act as if she were part of the cabaret show. And the type of business man who insists on having his work varied by a lot of flirtation and nonsense isn't worth much.

Too Many Questions.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I can't understand the girl I love, for whenever she meets me she is always there with her stack of questions, asking me where have I been last night, why did I talk to this girl, why did I tip my hat to this woman and hundreds of other foolish questions. I laugh with a pain in my heart. I call that nagging. I have told her, but she tells me it is love. I have told her that being in the trench and sleeping in mud was cream and honey compared to what she gives me. I am twenty-four, but I feel twice that age, as she kills all the ambition in me.

AN EX-SOLDIER.

MY dear boy, I think you're still a bit wobbly from the terrible turmoil of war. Don't take yourself or the girl you love with such frightful seriousness. Suppose she does nag at you a bit, that's because she has a jealous nature which, I assure you, troubles her far more than it does you. Be a little sorry for her and try to help her conquer her suspicious disposition by laughing at her good naturedly.

Jealousy Is Selfishness

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Do jealousy and true love go together? That is, if a man is deeply in love with a girl and he becomes jealous of her at times but forgets it later, is his jealousy a mark of disrespect to the girl, or is he really paying her a tribute of true love?

I would like to hear your opinion on it. Personally I believe where there is no real love there can be no jealousy. J. S.

DON'T ever make the mistake of thinking jealousy proves love. Jealousy proves self-love. It is a form of selfishness. It means that you have a strong sense of possession and want the one you love to find happiness—to find the right to life and love even—only though you.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. —Advertisement.

Cadum Ointment for Children's Skin Troubles

Cadum Ointment can be applied to the tender skin of infants and children suffering from tetter, rash, eczema, chafing and similar troubles. It stops the itching at once. Much suffering from skin troubles may be avoided by the timely use of this wonderful remedy. Cadum Ointment is also good for pimples, boils, itch, blotches, scaly skin, eruptions, sores, scabs, cuts, burns, ringworm, felons, cold sores, scratches, bruises, etc.

[Cadum Ointment is a French preparation] [made in America from the original formula]

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

Look years younger! Use the old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old Sage and Sulphur Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those with dark hair value this recipe for its wonderful way of bringing back the natural color when it comes streaked, faded or gray, also for its promoting a luxuriant growth, stopping dandruff and scalp itching and preventing the hair falling out. A few applications will work wonders with your hair.

This preparation is a toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND

Penrose

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate

PENROSE
RACIAL ORIGIN—Welsh.
SOURCE—Geographical.

THE family name of Penrose, though not exactly widespread in the United States, deserves some mention from the prominence it has attained in the public eye through a United States senator.

There are numerous and varied explanations offered for the origin of this name, but none of them appear to stand the test of comparison with the laws established by the development of family names in general, with the exception of one.

Penrose is the name of what is today a mere hamlet near land's End, in Cornwall, though there are indications that in medieval and early modern times it was a more important place than it is today, when the growth of modern cities has overshadowed the prominence of many localities which were prominent landmarks in olden times.

There is a Penrose family living in Penrose today, with large estates which have been in the possession of the family since the fifteenth century, a time at which the formation of family names, though well under way, had been by no means completed. Naturally, this particular family took its name from the place, in the form of "de Penrose." But undoubtedly the name, in the same form, sprang up in other parts of the country in the case of former residents of Penrose, who may or may not have been related to the owners of the estates, but who used "de Penrose" as a distinguishing name in the sense of "from" Penrose rather than "of" in its possessive meaning.

The name Penrose is closely identified with the history of Philadelphia, from the earliest days, ever since, about 1700, Bartholomew Penrose, the first of the name in America, came over to engage in the shipbuilding business. He was a friend and later a business associate of William Penn, that worthy owning a part of the ship Diligence, which was built in Philadelphia, to sail to "foreign parts."

This Penrose was a man of consequence before he found himself in America, for the records show that he must have brought considerable property and money to Philadelphia, where he married, soon after arriving, the daughter of one of the principal citizens. This Penrose was buried under Christ Church, Philadelphia. He was the ancestor of the present Pennsylvania Penroses.

Planning for Leisure

By Loretto C. Lynch.

EACH year people are finding out that it is good for them to have extra leisure time. And every housewife should now endeavor to plan to have more leisure than ever before. Yet it is a puzzle to many women as to how they are to have leisure when their housekeeping takes till midnight every night, Winter or Summer.

Yet it can be done. And the woman who can sit down and read by her fire an hour or two that she can really call her very own is going to be a happier and healthier little woman when the cooler days return.

The luncheon cloths of Japanese towelling are inexpensive and are easily laundered with far greater ease than the plain white linen cloths you may have been using. Paper napkins save work. Large plaids that accommodate a whole meal are ideal labor-savers, and their divisions make it possible to serve dessert with a minimum of dish-washing.

The fireless cooker is invaluable to the woman who would save herself work. It is almost impossible to give any model meals for the requirements of each family for each meal differ somewhat. But, generally speaking, there may be one hot meal and one cold meal outside of breakfast every day. By writing out your tentative plan you may be able to cook enough potatoes on Monday to provide for the principal meal on Monday and to give enough left-overs for potato salad for the other meal on Monday and still enough to make cream potatoes on Tuesday. For it requires no more fuel and very little more labor to cook twenty potatoes instead of ten.

A large ham, carefully and slowly boiled, is a good thing to have on hand. It may be eaten warm with greens and potatoes one day and lend itself to slicing cold, or frying with eggs, or in a dozen different ways. The bone will help to make a delicious bean soup. A piece of corned beef also has possibilities.

A freezer of ice cream or water ices may be made on Saturday and packed right into the refrigerator, pail and all, for the Sunday treat. When you are purchasing a freezer, select one that will fit into your refrigerator. This is a great saving in ice when it comes to packing it over night.

One young wife who was not encumbered by a family told me that she used the afternoons of her first years as a wife to learn to sew. She did this during her leisure, and enjoyed doing it. Now that she has a family, she is able to dress them well on little money because she was wise enough to invest her leisure in learning to sew.

But the average housewife needs the extra naps and little periods of rest which leisure time affords. She needs a change. She is but human. And upon her health and strength so much depends.

But she must create this leisure for herself. She must plan her work carefully and then use every endeavor to work her plan. Use common sense. It makes very little difference in the great scheme of things whether the neighbors criticise you because you dressing your children in linens or starched ironed crepe instead of beruffled fine things that take hours to iron. But what does make a difference in the great scheme is whether you have sufficient leisure time to rest, or perhaps to play with your little ones and grow to know their virtues and their faults.

Correct Table Service

In few departments of home decoration has taste made such strides as in the design of dinner silver. But harmony is the thing, and see to it, please, that your knives and your forks, your spoons and your service, fit in with your service plates and their companions, the vegetable dishes. Though the editors of various humorous publications still delight to picture a novice in the art of dining as embarrassed by a plenitude of assorted knives, forks, and spoons of various sizes and purposes, it is no open secret that, when the appetiser has gone and the soup is served, the table is clear of cutlery, and each course that follows is served with its own appropriate silver. — September Good Housekeeping.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. —Advertisement.

BEVERLY AUTOIST HURT IN NO. ANDOVER SMASH

Lawrence, Aug. 25—A blood stained machine marked with the initials "C. E." was found by an autoist on the Salem road in North Andover. The police on investigation found that it belonged to Charles Ridgley of No. 47 Abbot street, Beverly. He had been rushed to the Middleton Hospital for treatment. The machine had "skipped" the boulevard and was said to have been travelling at a high rate of speed. The car was badly damaged.

STEEL ISSUES ARE STRONG

Oils Have Heavy Tone, While Rails and Equipments Advance During Morning

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks rallied in the second hour in New York and the market verged on being strong at noon. Steels were the leaders in the advance, but oils did not figure much in the rally. They had a rather heavy tone. Rails and equipments advanced during the morning. The market was active, first hour transactions approximating 180,000 shares. Call loans were renewed at 7 per cent. Foreign exchange rates eased off, demand sterling opening at 3.84¾.

Largest purchases were made by Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, American Sugar, Atlantic Gulf, International Corporation, Marine preferred, Crucible, Car & Foundry, General Electric and Texas & Pacific. They were p from one to three points.

MIXED AT THE OPENING.

Prices were irregular at the opening and after a few minutes of hesitation a downward movement developed. Within thirty minutes the market had entirely changed position and was then instead of being rather strong. But fluctuations had been small and the range was so narrow that slight changes wholly altered the status of the list. Steels and the sugar issues of the coast, while shipping shares constituted the strongest group. Rails were firm but inclined to do little that they did not do much in defining the tone. Coppers were quiet as ordinarily, but were firmer. Motors and equipments went up and down with the majority of other stocks. Early business was on considerable scale. There was heavy liquidation of bears, as the market has displayed considerable rallying power of late on slight provocation. Cotton prices ruled lower and wheat was higher at market openings today. Recent declines of commodity prices have been one of the reasons for a reducing of industrial stocks, lower prices for products indicate less demand and smaller earnings all around.

PROFIT-TAKING ON ADVANCE.

The selling which caused an easing off of prices this morning after the sharp advance on the preceding session was largely because of profit taking. No change of sentiment occurred over night. Higher circles are said to be conservatively bullish, but the professional element is cautious, which is actuated more by monetary conditions, still looks for lower prices for securities. The steadiness of the London market was indicative of the continued retreat of the bear army. Money conditions remain as often described. There is diversity of opinion as to how quickly the strain has reached its peak already or will not do so until October. There is much uncertainty over business. Some people expect a trade revival in a month or two and others doubt if there be much improvement before Spring. No protracted depression seems to be expected in any quarter.

HIGH COST OF POOR RAILROAD SERVICE

It will be much cheaper for the business interests of this country to pay higher freight rates if they can get better transportation service. The high cost of poor service is shown by the experience of some New England manufacturers in getting fuel. A large textile company writes the following to the News Bureau:

"We have now about ten weks' supply of coal at our New England plants, which we consider a proper amount of reserve at this season of the year. The coal has been purchased at exorbitant prices.

"At least $50,000 worth of coal had been delivered by the New Haven Railroad and we have had to replace it at advanced prices. Forty cars of sand tons of Pennsylvania coal purchased on contract at favorable terms last Spring have been embargoed by the Pennsylvania Railroad and have been partially replaced by other coal at an advance of anywhere from $4 to $8 per ton.

"The transportation difficulties of the past six months will cost this company not less than a quarter of a million dollars, for coal alone."

JULY EXPORTS ARE $654,000,000

Washington, Aug. 25.—Exports valued at $654,000,000 were shipped from the United States during July as compared with exports of $621,000,000 during June, the Department of Commerce announced.

Imports during July were valued at $537,000,000 as compared with $512,000,000 during June.

Exports for the first seven months of 1920 were valued at $4,502,000,000, an increase of 5 per cent. over 1919, and imports were valued at $3,482,000,000 an increase of 7.8 per cent. over 1919.

Ore Prices at Joplin

Prices in the Joplin, Mo., market last week are quoted as follows: Blende ores carrying 60 per cent. zinc $47.50 to $48.50; calamine 40 per cent. ores, $35; lead ores of 80 per cent. $110. Sales aggregated 10,000 tons of zinc and 2,000 tons of lead ores.

Norwegian Import Embargo

Washington, Aug. 25.—Norway has declared an import embargo on automobiles and luxuries, the Department of Commerce has been advised.

FIRM TONE TO BOSTON LIST

Trading Narrow on the Local Exchange During the Morning; Curb Is Irregular

The Boston market had a firm opening. While a number of issues advanced at the start, about half of those to appear on the tape were unchanged to a point from initial sales. The market became stronger during the forenoon, but the improvement was not marked. Local trading was quiet and narrow. Not many issues were either up or down a point compared with Tuesday's closing quotations. Copper were steady, but evidently in less demand than usual. Rails, the issues were the most active group and had an irregular movement.

Gains of a point were made during the morning by Allouez and Hancock Mills, while fractionally higher stocks included Calumet and Arizona, Old Dominion, Shannon, Utah Metal, United Shoe, Elder, Libby, Swift & Co. and Mexican investment.

Recessions declining a point or more were Agricultural Chemical, New England Telephone and Edison Electric. Similar losses were shown by American Woolen preferred, New Haven, International Products and Swift, International.

CURB WAS IRREGULAR.

MARKET BULLS FIND LEADER

Whelan's Return from Europe Signalized by General Upward Movement

By BROADAN WALL.

New York, Aug. 25.—For the first time in several weeks the stock market yesterday showed a purpose in its movements. The continued flight of the Reds before the Polish armies cheered Wall Street mightily. Money was fairly easy around 7 per cent. Apparently the decline in cotton options has reached somebody's rate. The break of commodity prices generally has encouraged the public to look for some reduction in the cost of living.

But the most important thing that developed was the fact that the bulls had found a leader, something they have lacked woefully while the bears were well generaled. The bull leader is George J. Whelan, who returns from Europe, as he has done before, full of enthusiasm and a believer in higher prices. It was his activity that caused the market's advance. The market closed in the midst of a sharp advance with material net gains in nearly every stock on the list.

Cotton started out yesterday by making another set of new low prices all through the list. But these prices attracted so much attention in certain political quarters that the word went out to stop it. Mysterious but concentrated buying of options suddenly made its appearance with the result that there was a quick advance of above $6 a bale.

The Lackawanna Railroad Company has arranged for the distribution of its coal properties to its stockholders, but the matter has not yet been put in official form. The Supreme Court has ordered the Reading Company to make distribution, and it is understood that several other railroads are going to take the hint among these will be Southern Pacific.

The net gains recorded at the close of the day declined as whereabouts of the short interests. Baldwin, Mexican Petroleum, Texas Oil, U. S. Steel and Pan American were most active on the advance.

In Detroit the decrease was 1 per cent. In Denver, San Francisco and Indianapolis the increase was 3 per cent. In Salt Lake City, Seattle and St. Louis, the decrease was 4 per cent. In Louisville, Omaha and Kansas City, the decrease was 4 per cent. In Portland, Ore., the decrease was 6 per cent.

The passenger cars produced last year were valued at $1,441,745,925, while trucks footed up to $423,526,421.

How Wrong Telephone Calls May Be Avoided
About 90,000 times every day telephone subscribers in Greater Boston start a call and abandon it before it is completed; that is, they hang up the receiver before getting an answer.
In some cases the person called is slow in answering. In other cases the person calling decides the call is not desired.
The result is that thousands of subscribers are needlessly kept waiting at, or called to, the telephone.
Care in connection with this matter will reduce the number of such futile calls and assist in maintaining good telephone service.

BONUS BIG ISSUE WITH LEGION

Majority of Boston Delegates to Convention Favor Rewarding Veterans

The bonus for World War veterans will be the main question at the State convention of the American Legion in Springfield Friday, a canvass of local delegates today revealed.

Those favorable to the bonus outnumber those opposed to it. Election of State officers is expected to hinge largely upon the candidates' attitude towards the extra compensation.

Delegates from eastern Massachusetts will leave Boston at 4:29 p. m. Thursday and in Springfield will hold a conference in the Kimball Hotel. It is believed that Suffolk and Middlesex counties will present a host of candidates and at the meeting Thursday night campaign plans will be formulated.

One resolution in course of preparation for the convention is a protest to the War Department against the removal of General Edwards from command of the Northeastern Department.

Governor Coolidge is expected to address the opening session of the Legion's convention. Mayor John F. Adams of Springfield will welcome them to the city.

Commander Edward L. Logan will call the convention to order at 10 a. m. Friday. The election of officers is scheduled for Saturday.

Brig.-Gen. Edwards Gives His Friends the Right Cue

Ordered to Turn Over the Northeastern Department to an Officer of Higher Rank and Take Charge of a Brigade, the Commander of the "Y. D." says: "I Am a Soldier; I Obey Orders!"

Brigadier-General Clarence Ransom Edwards, relieved of his assignment as commander of the Northeastern Division to be succeeded in that high command by a Major-General, takes his transfer to the command of a brigade at Camp Dix, New Jersey, in exactly the fine spirit to be expected in a man who spent ten glorious months in the defensive sectors of Chemin-des-Dames and Toul, the Champagne-Marne defensive, the Aisne-Marne defensive, the St. Mihiel offensive and the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

"I am a soldier," General Edwards said to reporters who sought to learn how he felt about leaving New England, "I shall OBEY ORDERS and proceed to my post on the arrival of my successor here."

And then, fearful that his friends might feel resentful towards David Carey Shanks, who will succeed him in Boston, and who, by the way, filled the extremely important post of commander of the Port of Embarkation at Hoboken during thirteen trying months, General Edwards said:

"General Shanks is a fine soldier and my friend. Every one in New England will like him."

General Edwards has given his legion of friends, admirers and followers in New England a soldier's suggestion as to their attitude towards those who, "higher up," have been suspected of petty jealousy towards him. As a soldier of the United States, he "OBEYS ORDERS."

At sixty, we may be sure, Clarence Ransom Edwards has many years of usefulness in him. No soldier with his record and experience can be kept down. We shall hear more of Edwards. New England will follow his career with the spirit and loyalty of one big family.

Administration's Attitude Toward Russia Foolish

The French attitude toward Russia is mistaken. Still, there are reasons for it.

The Czar's Government borrowed billions of francs from France.

The Soviet Government refuses to recognize the debt.

Naturally, the French politicians and French financiers are anxious to see Czarism—or any other form of government that will recognize the French debt—obtain power in Russia.

The attitude of the Washington administration toward Russia is as mistaken as that of the French, and, unlike the French, it has no excuse.

The Czar and the short-lived Kerensky Government borrowed from this country a couple of hundred millions—a mere bagatelle as war debts go.

The Soviet Government has never refused to recognize this debt. On the contrary, it has offered to pay it.

So we have no quarrel with the Soviet Republic on that score.

The Soviet Republic has never attacked us or wronged us in any way.

To be sure, Mr. Wilson sent American soldiers to attack Russia and to kill Russian soldiers in Northern Russia and in Siberia, and the Russian Republic defended its territory and its people against these attacks.

But Mr. Wilson made these invasions and attacks without any authority granted by the Congress and in contempt of the Constitution.

So we have no rightful ground of quarrel with the Russian Republic, and Mr. Wilson's private war with the Russian Soviet Government is inexcusable in law or fact.

Two Premiers are using common sense in dealing with Russia—Lloyd George and Giolitti.

Mr. Wilson should follow their sensible example.

What Europe needs is peace and the chance to get back to work.

There can be no peace in Europe while Czarist adventurers and small border States are encouraged to make war on Russia.

Neither can the people of Europe get back to work while these small wars and counter-revolutions keep nations under arms and shut the raw materials of Russia from the factories of Central Europe and Italy.

The attempt to ostracize Russia is madness, and, if persisted in, it will result in universal revolution in Europe.

Why Huszar Failed

Carl Huszar, former Premier of Hungary, recently came to the United States to make a speaking tour and to collect money. He has returned with his speeches unspoken and with no American money. Thereby hangs a tale.

Ivan Hejjas was a lieutenant in the Austro-Hungarian army when the war ended. He gathered around him 20,000 ex-soldiers, bankrupt aristocrats of the ultra-militaristic type, too proud to work, and started to pillage and slay.

Like mad dogs they overran the southeast of Hungary, spilling blood in wholesale fashion. Whatever they wanted, they took. Whoever got in their way they tortured or killed with calm malignancy. Their especial quest was Jews. These they slaughtered as a matter of policy.

Huszar as Premier recognized, coddled and promoted Hejjas till Hejjas, grown insufferably arrogant, overtaxed his patience. Then Huszar called Hejjas a murderer and blackguard, but did not restrain him. Hejjas still rules the bandit bands which are converting Hungary into a shambles.

The United States does not feel bound to go to Hungary to suppress such devilishness, but it could not show welcome on its own soil for any man officially responsible for or acquiescent in it.

More Truth Than Poetry

A Dreamer in Danger

By S. E. KISER

AS I am mingling with the throngs,
Avoiding trucks and drays,
In fancy I can hear sweet songs
I heard in other days;
I dream of flowery dales and dells,
And make a mighty jump
As some one toots a horn and yells:
"Look out! Wake up, you chump!"

FAR haunts again my fancy seeks;
I hear a maiden's sighs
And see the blushes on her cheeks,
The gladness in her eyes;
The flowery stand I pass recalls
How she was made to care,
And then a frenzied truckman bawls:
"You fool! Step lively, there!"

AH, glad old days of long ago!
Again I seem to hear
The school bell ring across the snow,
In mellow tones and clear.
I see the path that winds away
Down to the swimming pool,
And hear a peeved policeman say,
"Get back, you reckless fool!"

THERE still may be sweet maidens there,
And there the boys may wade
Below the mill, with little care,
By small ambitions swayed.
In fancy I am often thrilled
By memory's dear appeals,
And narrowly miss being killed
By something that's on wheels.

Letters to the Editor

Against the League

Editor Boston American:

To show that some organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor are capable of doing their own thinking on the great issue of the hour, now before the judgment bar of the American people, viz., the League of Nations, I am authorized to state that, in the opinion of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders Lodge No. 585, A. F. L., the League of Nations is bereft of the essence of sound logic and is detrimental to the social, economic and industrial welfare of the United States, regardless of the fact that the flowery platitudes of ultra-egotists would have us imagine that we have outgrown the fundamental principles of Americanism, as laid down by the founders of our Republic. Lodge No. 585 has gone on record as opposed to the League of Nations as now constituted.

Subway Rush

Editor Boston American:

New York city has the name of being "speedy," but it can't come up to the Boston mark, with fifty impatient men and women making a mad rush for that coveted ten-cent seat in their car. Why is it people do not realize that they will get there just as soon by taking their time and turn, instead of trying to "smash the line?" If a stranger in this city witnessed the scenes in our subways and asked, "Am I really in Boston?" could you blame him?

AGNES.

How He Stands

Editor Boston American:

As the primaries draw near, I would like to see Mr. Frothingham come out and let the people know where he stands on the liquor question. It will not do to ignore it, for the workingman is interested in this issue as well as all others. DEMOCRACY.

By K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.—An editorial in the American, entitled "For Sale—My Baby," concerning a destitute artist in Chicago offering his baby girl for sale for $1,000 impressed me deeply.

If you will, through your column, offer my services to any lady in New York I will paint her portrait for $1,000, to be paid to you so that it may reach this man through the Hearst organization in Chicago that he may keep his child himself.

I make this offer because, as a fellow-artist, I know only too well the great mental stress he is laboring under and how impossible it would be for him to work under such conditions. Sincerely,

HENRY CLIVE.

MY DEAR Henry.
THANKS VERY much.
FOR CROSSING me.
AND I'M glad to help.
DESPITE THE fact.
I'M NOT quite sure.
WHAT SORT of man.
WOULD SELL his child.
FOR ANY price.
BUT HE'S an artist.
AND SO are you.
AND HE'S in need.
AND YOU'VE the gift.
TO DO this thing.
THAT YOU would do.
AND DO it well.
AND IT may be.
THERE IS someone.
SOME WOMAN fair.
WHO'D LIKE to help.
AND IF there is.
AND SHE will write.
AND LET me know.
I WILL be glad.
I'VE DONE my bit.
AND, ANYWAY.
IF IT should prove.
THIS ARTIST'S tale.
HAS FLIVVERED out.
OR WE should find.
THAT OTHER hands.
HAVE FILLED his wants.
I'D HATE to think.
THAT I'D let pass.
YOUR PROFFERED chance.
TO GRAB a check.
SO VERY fat.
WHEN I'VE just read.
OF THAT poor soul.
WHO'D SELL herself.
TO GET the means.
SO THAT she might.
BUY BACK again.
HER HUSBAND'S health.

I THANK you.

MEDDLERS DELIGHT IN SPOILING THINGS

By Beatrice Fairfax

THE-OVERHEARD-IN-THE-CAR conversation is frequently employed for comic purposes. The other day I heard one which struck me as being about as many removes from funny as a beet is from being an American beauty. Here it is, taken down in the shorthand of memory:

"And I said to his mother—'of course, she's a nice enough girl and nothing special against her. But he's such a remarkable boy and so young. I should think you just as soon he waited before settling down.'"

"You're right, too. What did his mother say to that?"

He Was Young

"She said of course he was young. But his father had been settled like when wasn't more than twenty-two, which is just Gerald's age. And she said they'd married when they wasn't as old as Gerald and Maude."

"Wasn't much argument to that, was there?"

"There wasn't? Indeed there was! I asked her if she didn't think things had changed a mite since she and her husband was young. 'Most likely,' I said, 'you folks started on eighty a month and hadn't a bit of trouble managing. But Gerald would have all he could do to make ends meet if he was earning that much a week.'"

"Did you get her to seeing it right?"

Made Her See It

"Course I did. I was bound I wouldn't let up until I made her see it."

At this stage of her conversation the lady, who had evidently not lost the gift of gab, departed from the car. So I don't know how much further her other gift of meddling went. Nor do I know why she meddled.

I think the lady is just one of those all-too-frequent and none-too-agreeable souls who like to put their finger in any pie in the neighborhood. A meddler. A tinkerer with destiny. A professional cream-sourer. A warped and yet placidly self-satisfied destroyer of happiness.

That's the worst of meddlers—they are convinced they're doing folks a good turn!

THINK OF YOUR PARTNER

Mr. Neglectful Husband, do you realize what a temptation you are forcing upon your wife to become interested in something aside from you and your home?

If you do not give your wife any of your time or your attention, how can you expect that she will not seek something interesting to her outside.

Naturally, if she is a good woman she will not seek the society of any man other than yourself, but she may mingle more in mixed crowds and there are always men who try to console the lonely woman whose husband is known to show her little attention.

Such men do not need encouragement to cause them to become annoying and their reputations are such that to see a woman talking with them frequently is to at least start some whisperings of an evil nature.

Suppose your wife should become talked about without any evil intent on her part, would you not be directly responsible on account of your actions?

You may never have looked at things in this light.

If not, it would be well to give the matter some consideration.

You may be laying the foundation for future serious trouble and sorrow.

Beggars in India

India is blessed, or, perhaps, cursed, with the largest congregation of itinerant beggars of any country in the world. These mendicants, or ascetics, as they are usually called, are in a sense religious fanatics, who inflict bodily tortures on themselves with the dual idea of performing certain religious functions and also of calling attention to themselves with the view of receiving alms from the curious and devout passerby. A man will remain suspended on thin taut wire supported by two bamboo poles for lengthy periods, often a fortnight. Below, on the ground, lies the mat upon which he receives contributions of the sympathetic crowd.

IS THERE A SUPREME GUIDING FORCE?

By Garrett P. Serviss

"It seems certain that its end" (the end of the human race) "will come, for eventually the light of the sun will go out, or the earth and the other planets will be wrecked by a passing star, and the question of the purpose of it all, if, indeed, there is any purpose in it, still remains unanswered."—From F. R. Moulton's "Introduction to Astronomy."

"These are the generations of the heaven and of the earth when they were created, in the day that the Lord God made the earth and the heavens, and every plant of the field before it was in the earth and every herb of the field before it grew."—From the "Book of Genesis."

WHEN the second of the momentous sentences quoted above was written or pronounced the readers or hearers to whom it was addressed had no suspicion that the stars were distant suns, that the planets were other worlds belonging together with the earth to the one near-by sun, and that the earth itself was only a minutest speck amidst a universe of greater creations, and relatively as insignificant as a single drop of water in the ocean.

Known to Everybody

Now, some thousands of years later, these things are known to everybody, but, as the first quotation shows, even leaders of the science which has brought about this accession of knowledge can see nothing behind it all that either proves, or clearly suggests to them, a governing purpose. This is a shock to those who have been accustomed to take the old saw that "an undevout astronomer is mad" for an affirmation that the study of astronomy affords proof that a supreme planning and supervising intelligence made the universe and all that it contains. To some minds it seems to afford such proof, to others not.

In any event, the essential character of the evidence which it offers is the same as that offered by the phenomena of nature right around us on the earth. The immensity of the data of astronomy does not alter their quality.

Millions Obey Same Laws

But, all of the millions of suns in space are composed of similar materials, and all apparently obey the same physical laws that prevail in our little solar system, and this reduplication on so vast a scale may be regarded as suggestive of a definite, prearranged plan, the argument being that while chance, or the operation of the laws of probability, might account for the phenomena of one solar system, the same explanation would not apply when identical phenomena were found recurring, in the same order, in millions of other systems.

The "purpose of it all" would not appear so elusive if the point of view were less exclusively terrestrial and human. Regarded from the Milky Way, or from some of the unthinkably remote globular star clusters, the going out of the light of our petty sun, or the wrecking of our little flotilla of planetary bateaux by "a passing star" in the ocean of immensity, would not appear as a disaster of magnitude so tremendous, as to make the whole universe seem to be only a mad realm of chaos, and to call in question the existence of any intelligent purpose controlling all.
